U. S. ACCEPTS WORLD PARLEY BID OF BRITAIN

Will Join Conference if Silver Is Discussed and Debts Are Not.

3 REPRESENTATIVES TO BE NAMED LATER

Fiscal and Credit Policies Will Be Among Chief Questions Aired.

(Associated Press.)

The United States yesterday announced its willingness to take part in a world economic conference with the understanding that silver would be one of the subjects discussed and that reparations, international debts and specific tariff rates would be barred.

The meeting, an outgrowth of the recent Lausanne conference, differs from that proposed by Senator Borah, of Idaho, in that he called for a consideration of revision of war debts in return for European disarmament and reparations cancellation.

The senator will speak in Minneapolis tonight in the first of a series of addresses in which he will take his proposal to the country.

Three to Be Named.

The note of acceptance was delivered late yesterday to the British Embassy. It briefly outlined American acceptance of the British invitation and said the three representatives of this country would be named later. The text was not made public.

The invitation to participate in the conference, a date for which has not been set, asked this Government to name three persons to represent it on the three preliminary committees. One will help arrange the conference itself. The other two will be comprised of experts on economic and financial matters and will make a preliminary survey of these subjects.

The main questions to be dealt with are monetary and credit policies, exchange difficulties, the level of prices and the movement of capital.

Problems to be Aired.

The economic phases will center largely upon the problems of improving conditions of production and trade interchanges, with particular attention to tariff policies, prohibitions and restrictions of importation and exportation, quotas and other barriers to trade and producers' agreements.

Similar representation to that of the United States will be had in the preliminary conferences by Germany, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy and Japan. Acting for its other members, the Council of the League of Nations will appoint representatives from other nations to speak for them in the preliminary conversations.

Borah Knows Man He Wants Elected

But He Will Not Disclose Whom He Supports in Campaign.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Senator William E. Borah has decided whom to support in the coming presidential election, he said today, but he was not ready to announce his choice.

The Idaho legislator restated his campaign status as he passed through Chicago en route to his home, as follows:

He will not support President Hoover on the Republican platform; there is no possibility that he will come out for Franklin D. Roosevelt, the Democratic nominee; he will not back William D. Upshaw, of Georgia, the Prohibition candidate; there is no third party as far as he is concerned.

"I will take an interest in my State election," he said. "My position is the same as I expressed it in the Senate recently on the Republican ticket. I don't think any more of its economic planks than I do of its prohibition plank."

Death of Mgr. Seipel Stops Parliament Defeat

Vienna, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Mgr. Ignaz Seipel, former chancellor, leader of the Christian Socialist party and recognized head of the Austrian Fascist movement, died today in a sanatorium near here. His death saved the present Austrian government from defeat in Parliament.

A few hours after the priest died Chancellor Engelbert Dollfus appointed a successor to his parliamentary seat. This successor was present when a no-confidence motion, introduced by the Pan-Germans, was rejected by a vote of 81 to 81. Had Mgr. Seipel still been alive he could not, of course, have been present in Parliament, and the government would have been short one vote.

Federal Judges' Pay Cut Is Accomplished

15 Employes Dropped by Radio Board in Savings Move.

Fifteen employes of the Federal Radio Commission, headed by Wilfred G. Clearman, chief investigator, yesterday were ordered dropped from the commission's rolls as an economy measure.

The dismissals, the first since the commission's merger with the radio division of the Department of Commerce, will save $34,000 of the $67,000 slash required by curtailed appropriations.

The remaining $33,000 will be saved from the field service, where some 150 persons are employed, the commission announced. Field reductions will be announced at a later date.

Although the economy act specified workers might be indefinitely furloughed rather than dismissed, the commission held dismissals, to keep within appropriations, were specified in the Executive merger order.

Economy Act Operation Exempts Superior Constitutional Courts.

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

The delicate operation of cutting salaries of the Federal judiciary under the economy act has been achieved by the Department of Justice by exempting members of the Supreme Court, the United States Circuit Courts of Appeals and the United States District Courts, it was learned authoritatively last night.

The cuts, running as high as 20 per cent in the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, the Court of Claims and the Court of Appeals of the District, are based on confidential memoranda made to the department by Comptroller of the Currency J. R. McCarl. Neither the Comptroller's office nor the Department of Justice has made this opinion public.

Members of the judiciary affected are not altogether satisfied with the ruling. Some of those hit point out that the pay slash, ordered by Con-

CABINET IN BRITAIN MAY ACT ON DEBTS

Possibility Seen Baldwin and Chamberlain Will Come to Washington.

London, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—The possibility that the British cabinet will take up the question of war debt payments to the United States this week arose tonight in connection with economic, particularly tariff, issues.

The Daily Herald, Labor newspaper which usually is well informed, tomorrow will say that the cabinet's main discussion on Thursday will center on the debt question and may involve suggestions for tariff concessions to America.

The Daily Herald will say it is understood that Britain may offer tariff concessions in return for concessions on the debt payments, which Europe hopes will be readjusted in view of the Lausanne agreement on German reparations payments.

If the debt negotiations are reopened it is possible Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader and lord president of the council, will proceed from the British imperial conference at Ottawa to Washington to participate.

Baldwin would be accompanied by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, and Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade. Both are now at Ottawa.

It is generally believed, however, that only preliminary consideration of the debt question on the part of Britain is possible in the next few months in view of the fact that the United States presidential elections are occupying most of official Washington at present.

French Accused in Plot On Regime of Mussolini

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—The French were accused tonight by Dr. Pasquale Villari, a former member of the Italian foreign office, of complicity with anti-Fascists in conspiracies against the Mussolini regime which he said had cost fifteen lives in the last few years.

Addressing the Institute of Politics on "Italy and the World Crisis," he asserted that several plots had been hatched on French territory for the "murder of Signor Mussolini," and related such alleged instances to the "abominable murder by a Russian exile of Paul Doumer"

MOBILIZATION EDICT SIGNED IN PARAGUAY

Fresh Troops Are Sent Into Chaco; Bolivia Prepares to Mass Forces.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—President Jose P. Guggiari tonight signed the mobilization decree which will call up the army reserve of men between 22 and 29 years of age and officers between 20 and 50 years for service in the threatened war with Bolivia.

In addition he summoned every citizen of Paraguay to "stand erect as one man" and march forward to victory over Bolivia in the Gran Chaco frontier conflict.

Predicting certain triumph for Paraguay, the president called upon America "to witness our efforts to solve the dispute by legal means" and charged Bolivia with aggression.

Recalling the military history of Paraguay, which led the manhood of the nation to sacrifice in war against Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay in 1870, the president continued:

"Paraguay now as then will give an example of courage and energy which will astound the world, thus honor-

2 Nations Warned By League Council

Bolivia and Paraguay Are Reminded of Pledge in Plea for Peace.

Geneva, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Dr. Jose Matos, of Guatemala, president of the League of Nations Council, sent telegrams to Bolivia and Paraguay today reminding them of their obligations as members of the league, and asking for a peaceful solution of their conflict over the Gran Chaco territory.

The telegrams followed letters previously sent to the Bolivian and Paraguayan delegates for transmission to their governments. In these letters the council president begged the nations to cooperate with other American republics in efforts to restore peace.

Dr. Matos recalled in his telegrams today the Chaco conflict of December, 1928, and the solemn promise given by the two nations at that time that they would use peaceful means of settlement.

Indiana Governor Ignores Plea for Mine Row Troops

Refuses Two Requests of Sheriff in Coal Field; 75 Guards Battle 2,500 Attackers With Machine Gun; Several Men Shot.

Indianapolis, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Two requests today from Joseph Dreher, Vigo County sheriff, for National Guard troops to aid in preserving order in the coal fields south of Terre Haute were ignored by Gov. Harry G. Leslie. The governor said he would order troops into the coal region "when and if the time comes."

Terre Haute, Ind., Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Sheriff Joe Dreher, jr., sent an emergency request tonight to the governor for airplanes and troops to quell a battle between coal miners at the Dixie Bee shaft, 12 miles south of here.

While the sheriff prepared his message, two more ambulances plunged over flooded roads for the injured. Latest reports said the toll remained at six, but the call for more ambulances indicated others may have been shot.

The mud-splattered ambulance drivers returned an hour later to Terre Haute with their vehicles empty. They said they attempted to drive into the mine inclosure, where four of the wounded were reported, but were forced back by the pickets.

"Four men wounded at Dixie Bee mine and battle continues," the sheriff telegraphed Gov. Harry G. Leslie at Indianapolis. "Sheriff and his deputies fired upon. Request troops. Send planes with staff at once."

The United Press correspondent who witnessed the battle this afternoon counted the casualties, saw the four men whom the sheriff mentioned fall, and then saw at least two more men writhing on the ground with bullets in their bodies. One of the (Associated Press Sports Editor).

Olympic Stadium, Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Under another beaming California sun, the world's greatest collection of track and field talent ran wild today in the Olympic championships.

A record-battering jubilee was featured by the 800-meter triumph of Tom Hampson, British school teacher, in the world-record time of 1:49.8, and climaxed by four successive record races in the 200-meter quarter-finals.

Eddie Tolan and Ralph Metcalfe, the twin American Negro thunderbolts who ran one-two in the sensational 100-meter final yesterday, came back with a combined rush to lower the 200-meter Olympic mark to 21.5 seconds. No sooner had a crowd of 45,000 finished cheering these sprint stars, however, than Carlos Luti, Argentine, and Arthur Jonath, of Germany, came along to cover the same route in 21.4 seconds each in the remaining heats, to finish the wreckage of an Olympic record that had stood since 1904. It was made by Archie Hahn, now track coach at the University of Virginia.

More Records Loom Today

This fresh outburst of speed forecast further demolition of the record in the semifinals and final of the 200 meters tomorrow, with the consensus favoring Tolan and Metcalfe to wage the main fight.

Hampson's thrilling victory in the 800 for Great Britain's first Olympic triumph, however, was the day's biggest moment.

Hampson, 24 years old, was the favorite, regarded as the class of a strong field, but he needed every ounce of sprinting energy he could muster to come from behind and beat Alex Wilson, slim Canadian, by a foot.

Edwards Sets Pace.

The crowd was on its feet roaring as Wilson, then Hampson came around the last turn with a rush to challenge and pass Phil Edwards, Canadian Negro, who set the pace from the gun. Wilson hung on gallantly, but did not quite have the "kick" to match Hampson's perfectly timed spurt at the close, although he, too, was clocked in better than world record time.

Hampson not only erased the listed

Man's Death Leap Stops Check Quiz

Resident of Capital Jumps 14 Floors as Detectives Grill Him.

Toledo, Ohio, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—While being questioned by two private detectives who expressed doubt of the worth of a $50 check, he wrote, Harry McLeod, 45, of 1801 Calvert street, Washington, D. C., leaped from a fourteenth floor window of the Second National Bank Building to his death early tonight.

McLeod was said formerly to have been associated with the Watts Detective Agency, in Washington.

Officials of the Watts Detective Agency said that McLeod had worked for them only a short time and had left their employ several months ago. They said they believed his family was in Wilmington, Del. He was not known at the Calvert street address.

Heflin to Take Stump For Roosevelt Ticket

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Former Senator J. Thomas Heflin announced today that he will take the stump this fall in behalf of the Democratic presidential ticket, speaking in Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, California and other western States.

WET IS AHEAD FOR SENATE IN MISSOURI VOTE

Son of Champ Clark Is Leading Democratic Primary Race.

INCUMBENTS NAMED IN KANSAS BALLOTING

Senator McGill Renominated With Gov. Woodring by Wide Margins.

St. Louis, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Col. Bennett C. Clark, son of the late Speaker Champ Clark and an avowed opponent of prohibition, tonight was leading Charles M. Hay, veteran dry, and Charles M. Howell, Kansas City organization candidate, for the Democratic senatorial nomination in scattering early returns from Missouri's primary election.

The vote in 132 of 4,195 precincts in the State, mostly in rural districts, was: Clark, 4,087; Hay, 2,961; Howell, 2,135.

In the Republican race for senator, Henry W. Kiel, former Mayor of St. Louis, a wet, had a slight margin over former Representative Dewey J. Short, former dry who recently came out for resubmission. The count in 96 precincts gave Kiel 1,697 to 1,350 for Short.

Wilson Ahead for Governor.

Francis M. Wilson, whose candidacy was sponsored by T. J. Pendergast, Kansas City Democratic leader, led Russell L. Dearmont, "antiboss" candidate, in the party's governorship race. Returns from 134 precincts gave Wilson 5,401, Dearmont 3,925. The attitude of both toward prohibition coincided with the Democratic national platform.

Secretary of State Charles U. Becker and Lieut. Gov. E. H. Winter were running a close race for the G. O. P. gubernatorial nomination, 97 precincts, mostly outstate, giving Becker 2,226, Winter 1,989, and Leo E. Koehler, outspoken wet, 580. Becker had the indorsement of the Missouri Anti-saloon League and Winter favored the Republican national plank on prohibition.

In the Democratic congressional race, in which 56 candidates sought thirteen places, the twelve incumbents were leading the field.

Incumbents Pressed.

Four Republicans now representing the State were also running strong, although John M. Hadley, son of a former governor, and Carl J. Otto, assistant attorney general, were showing up well.

Returns from the first St. Louis precincts to report showed Howell running far ahead in the Democratic senatorship contest, and it was virtually certain an even heavier vote would be cast for the organization candidate in Kansas City and Jackson County.

Similarly, Wilson was conceded an overwhelming majority in the governorship vote in Kansas City, although no Kansas City ballots were available for the early tabulations.

The extremely heavy vote, both outState and in the cities, and the length of this year's ballot slowed up the counting of the returns.

McGill and Woodring Win.

Ill Health Forces Action; Predicts Republicans Will Win Kentucky.

(Associated Press.)

Former Gov. Edwin I. Morrow of Kentucky announced in a statement last night that because of ill health he would not be the Republican candidate for United States senator from that State.

In his statement withdrawing his candidacy, Morrow predicted that the Republican party would carry Kentucky in November.

Lame Duck Amendment Ratified by Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—The Pennsylvania Legislature today completed ratification of the proposed amendment to the Federal Constitution to eliminate the "lame duck" session of Congress. The House passed the ratification resolution today. It previously had been passed by the Senate.

Pennsylvania is the fourteenth State to ratify. Thirty-six are necessary.

MARYLAND BARS CAMP; WATERS TELLS FORCES TO RETURN TO STATES

Killing of Two In Riot Held Justified.

QUIZ ABSOLVES 2 POLICEMEN

14 Men Arrested As Reds Are Freed.

Decision by a coroner's jury that the fatal shooting of two bonus marchers last Thursday was justifiable on the part of two police privates, release at the behest of District Attorney Leo A. Rover, of fourteen out of fifteen alleged radicals held since Friday, and announcement that the grand jury tomorrow will pick up its halted probe of the rioting, were main threads of yesterday's aftermaths of the two-month bonus army occupation.

Two civilians, eyewitnesses of the events leading to the shooting, testimony of Brig. Gen. Pelham D. Glassford, superintendent of police, and the voluntary statement of Private Miles Znamencek, one of the police involved in the shooting, are believed to have been the main influences behind the jury's verdict. Private George W. Shinault, the other policeman in the melee with the dead veterans, did not testify.

The verdict of the coroner's jury was brought in within five minutes after the testimony had been concluded. It was rendered in the dingy morgue down by the Washington channel of the river across which a few hours before, William J. Hushka, one of the slain veterans, was buried in Arlington National Cemetery with the rites given the Nation's soldiers.

14 Radicals Are Released.

The fourteen radicals were released after Mr. Rover had announced he could find nothing to question their citizenship status. They had been booked as "held for the immigration authorities." They were led to the Maryland line by police. One man was continued in custody until immigration authorities investigate his

WALTER W. WATERS.

Leader Wires Governors Of Plan.

SEEKS FAVOR FOR COLONIES

Case of Typhoid in Pennsylvania Adds Fears.

Early today Walter W. Waters advised members of the bonus army to return to their respective States because "I fully realize that our battle ground is there."

"An active organization in each State composed of B. E. F. veterans will do more to promote the cause of the former soldiers than any concentrated camp away from Washington," he declared.

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Their fleeting hope for a haven in Maryland gone, the tattered and hungry bonus army bivouacked in a squalid suburban camp tonight got word from its commander, W. W. Waters, to "stick" until he can make other arrangements for them.

After a lengthy conference with Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Waters announced tonight that he has abandoned plans for a veterans' colony near Laurel.

Several hours later he telephoned his field staff from Washington, urged them to keep the army together and said he had wired the governor of each State asking him if he has any objections to establishing of a camp for veterans and their families from that State.

Favorable Response.

Waters said he has already received favorable responses, but he did not say from whom. His Washington statement said:

"Since returning from Annapolis I have been assured by responsible persons that property can be placed at my disposal in every State in the Union to care for veterans of that State who are B. E. F. members without opposition from constituted authorities. Meantime, I am advising the men at Johnstown to sit tight until definite arrangements for them can be completed."

Earlier, Waters had issued a statement in Annapolis saying he would urge the 7,000 men, women and children encamped in Ideal Park near here to disband.

When that word reached Johnstown it caused consternation both in the camp and in field headquarters. There was a general disposition not to believe Waters intended to quit and members of his staff asserted they would carry on regardles of what Waters did.

Jubilant Over Plans.

When the commander got in touch with his aids later, they were jubilant to learn that he had other plans for the penniless hordes that slept beneath the stars.

In his Annapolis statement, Waters said:

"After conferring with Gov. Ritchie on the contemplated colonization of the property in Anne Arundel County, Md., deeded to me by Maude Edgell for this purpose, I find that the project can not be carried on with the approval of the State of Maryland.

"In brief, I am prevented by legal technicalities from settling members of the bonus army on this property. I have been advised that the same restrictions exist in other States and if I did go ahead with the project it would be in direct violation of existing laws of the State of Maryland."

The statement issued from the gov-

PINCHOT ASKS R.F.C. LOAN TO HELP IDLE

Seeks $10,000,000Aid Now; $35,000,000 More to Be Requested Later.

(Associated Press.)

Gifford Pinchot, Governor of Pennsylvania, yesterday requested a loan of $10,000,000 from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for immediate unemployment relief in his State.

The governor said he would ask for $35,000,000 more later. He would not say how the $10,000,000 would be distributed if the loan were granted.

The State of Illinois recently received a $3,000,000 loan after it had requested $10,000,000.

The Reconstruction Corporation yesterday laid aside the purely financial aspects of its huge relief task and began a series of conferences on a plan to put thousands of men back to work on the Nation's railroads.

Attempting to work out President Hoover's program to stimulate business by inducing the railroads to resume full maintenance and repair work, the corporation directors conferred for three hours with Interstate Commerce Commission officials and railroad executives and ordered another conference for today.

None of the conferees would comment after yesterday's conference, but it was learned that the discussion centered about the ways and means of getting maintenance men back to work. Thousands of them have been furloughed under the railroads' reduced maintenance operations.

Those conferring on the railroad situation included Interstate Commerce Commissioners Lewis, Myer and Mahaffie, and Director Sweet, of the commission's finance division; Presidents Willard, of the Baltimore & Ohio, and Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania Railroads; A. J. County, finan-

Hoover Says Many In B. E. F. Civilians

More Than Half Never in Service, He Informs Legion Post.

Boston, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—The Crosscup Pishon Post, one of the largest posts of the American Legion in New England, today announced receipt of a letter from President Hoover saying that less than half of the bonus army ever served under the American flag. The letter from the President read:

"I would be glad if the veterans throughout the country could know the character of the men claiming to be their representatives who have been in Washington since the adjournment of Congress. It is the impression of our Government services that less than half of them ever served under the American flag."

The letter was in response to a telegram sent the President by the post commending him for preserving order during the recent disturbance at Washington.

Farmer-Labor Party To Draft Brookhart

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Roy M. Harrop, Council Bluffs, national chairman of the Farmer-Labor party, announced today the Farmer-Labor party would draft Senator Smith W. Police Fight Red Delegates To Ottawa Workers Parley 14 Are Arrested in Demonstration After Being Rallied by Woman; Immediate Relief for Idle Is Demanded of Prime Minister.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Two riots by communistically affiliated delegates to the Workers Economic Conference forced police to swing their fists and clubs today but failed to ruffle the British Empire Economic Conference.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett received seven from the workers' conference. He answered their "demands" for immediate government action to alleviate unemployment and agreed to present to the empire conference their demands that political prisoners in India be released. He promised to send any of them to jail who violated the law, refused to lift his embargo against Soviet Russian goods, and refused to let them see delegates to the empire conference.

Most of the deputation dispersed for lunch, deciding to abandon a monster mass meeting. But the 580 other delegates waited in Market Square for the demonstration.

Mrs. Lillian Wilkinson, 40, of North York, one of the seven who called on Bennett, rallied the waiting delegates in the market square.

"Go back to your homes, if you will, slaves, or stay here and fight with——"

Policemen began moving toward her. Others began shoving the demonstrants back.

Some resisted. A few hit police and others tried to drag them down by clinging to them. Police used fists and little riot billies sparingly. A couple of men were cut on the head, Mrs. Wilkinson lost a heel from one of her shoes, and she, another woman, eleven men and a 14-year-

GOVERNMENT RESTS IN COAL TRUST CASE

Col. Donovan Begins Effort to Refute Contention Against Operators.

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Moving swiftly, the Government today rested its antitrust suit against Appalachian Coals, Inc., and 136 coal operators, early in the afternoon, after seeking to establish the organization was a combination in restraint of trade and therefore in violation of the Sherman act.

Nine witnesses were called by John Lord O'Brian, assistant to the Attorney General, to prove the Government's claim before a three judge Federal court, composed of Circuit Judge John J. Parker, of Charlotte, and District Judges Elliott Northcott, of Huntington, W. Va., and Morris A. Soper, of Baltimore. O'Brian served notice that he reserved the right to call one more witness.

Donovan Heads Defense.

The defense, headed by Col. William J. Donovan, of New York, who earned a reputation for vigorous antitrust activities while he was an Assistant Attorney General, moved into action to sustain the contention that the reorganization is not a combination in restraint of trade.

The association is composed of coal dealers in West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The Government announced at the beginning of the hearing yesterday it regarded the action as a test case because of information that coal operators in all other producing districts east of the Mississippi were prepared to form similar organizations if Appalachian Coals, Inc., were held to be legal.

Defense witnesses testified that the proposed selling agency plan is necessary to save the coal industry from its present chaotic situation.

Washington Man Heard.

James D. Francis, of Huntington, W. Va., president of Appalachian Coals, Inc., denied this marketing organization seeks to control the production, distribution and sale of coal in the area. He said it offered tangible relief to a distressed industry.

William J. McGarry, of Washington, manager of the car service division, American Railway Association, testified that the coal mines of the United States have a capacity annual yield of 1,000,000,000 tons. He estimated that the production this year would not go much beyond the 300,000,000 mark.

The purpose of his testimony, defense counsel explained, was to support the argument that Appalachian Coals, Inc., "even if it desired to regulate the price of coal, would not have the power to do so for the reason that it will not and could not dominate or control any substantial market."

Veteran Is Killed As Car Overturns

Man, 50, Was Hitch-Hiking to New York Home After Leaving Hospital.

A 50-year-old veteran of the Spanish-American and World Wars, who was hitch-hiking his way back to his home in New York after being released from a veterans' hospital, was instantly killed last night when an automobile skidded on a slippery road near Woodbridge, Va., and overturned.

The accident victim is Frank R. Case. He was taken to the Alexandria Hospital, but was pronounced dead on arrival. He suffered a fracture at the base of the skull and a broken neck.

Two men were being held by Fairfax County police on investigation charges while police delve into the accident. They are Pete Rosano, of West Brighton, N. Y., driver of the car, and Robert Smith, of Staten Island, a passenger. Neal Hudson, of Carthage, Ill., companion of Case, told police he and the dead veteran left the hospital yesterday morning and were picked up by the two men quite a distance down the road. Hudson jumped when the car overturned and escaped injury.

old boy were arrested, charged with disorderly conduct.

The workers' delegates milled up to the parliament square. Barring the roadway into the court were half a dozen Royal Canadian Mounted policemen.

They stood quietly while city police mingled with the crowd. There was a sudden chorus of boos for the empire conference. Police again broke up the crowd. This time there was a little shoving and pushing, but there were no arrests, and the demonstrants after half an hour were dispersed.

Ottawa, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—A permanent bureau in London to standardize industrial materials throughout the British Empire—and thereby wipe out one of the trade advantages enjoyed by American steel producers—was advocated today at a meeting of the empire's economic negotiators.

The duties of such a bureau would include such items as insuring that a Canadian manufacturer who ordered sheet steel from a British mill would get the same product he is accustomed to receive from America.

SALARIES OF FEDERAL JUDGES ARE CUT WITH GREAT CARE

gress, and carried out by an administrative officer, strikes at the balance of power between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government.

If Congress can cut the salary of a Federal Court, then Congress might bring pressure to bear to that extent on its formal decisions, according to views informally expressed last night.

It was further pointed out that the three appellate courts hit all deal largely with litigation between the Government and private individuals; that they do more appellate work than other courts, involving not only the ordinary grist, but injunction suits, mandamus suits and the run of suits against the Government.

In no case may the judges, appointed for life, be removed except by impeachment.

While no formal protests have been filed, it was said the Court of Claims has the power under the law to review the constitutionality of the Comptroller's ruling, if formal suit is brought.

But this would place members of this bench, whose salaries have been cut, in the embarrassing position of passing on cases identical with their own.

The five judges of the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, presided over by Judge William J. Graham, have filed with the Department of Justice a waiver to the $12,500 they formerly received, accepting the $10,000 prescribed in the economy act.

This was done voluntarily, it was said, to obviate the necessity of an administrative officer ruling on the question.

There has been no other case of this kind, however, nor has their been any instance of a judge in one of the courts exempted turning back part of his salary to the Treasury, so far as could be determined.

Constitution's Provision.

The question of which members of the judiciary should be cut revolved around interpretation of Article 3, of the Constitution. It reads:

"The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one Supreme Court, and in such inferior courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The judges, both of the Supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior, and shall at stated times receive for their services a compensation which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office."

The economy act provided that "the salaries and retired pay of all judges (except judges whose compensation may not, under the Constitution, be diminished during their continuance in office), if such salaries or retired pay are at a rate exceeding $10,000 per annum, shall be at the rate of $10,000 per annum.

Expect Ruling to Hold.

It remained for the Comptroller to determine which were "inferior courts" under the Constitution. Judges generally are of the opinion his ruling will hold water in view of the Supreme Court decision in the bakelite case, where the courts hit in the Comptroller's decision were held not to be constitutional courts.

Besides the Court of Customs and Patent Appeals, the Court of Claims and the Court of Appeals of the District, where salaries were reduced from $12,500 to $10,000, courts receiving a pay cut as a result of the decision include the Supreme Court of the District, the United States Customs Court of New York, and the various Territorial courts.

Members of Congress today will receive their first pay cut under the economy act. They are paid on the third of every month. Instead of the customary $833.33, they will find only $750 in their monthly pay envelopes.

RETAIL SALES HERE FAR ABOVE AVERAGE

Survey Shows Volume Is 67 Per Cent Above That for Country.

Retail sales in Washington are 67 per cent better than the average for the United States, according to an analysis of the retail markets of the Nation just completed by Erwin, Wasey & Co., international advertising agency with headquarters in New York.

The analysis is based on the first official census of retail sales made by the United States Government in connection with the 1930 census, and has been published in book form by the advertising agency.

In the analysis, the retail sales index gives 100 as the average for the country, with Washington retail sales placed at 167. Per capita retail sales expenditure in Washington in 1930 amounted to the high figure of $682 as compared with $408 for the United States.

This city, the analysis showed, was above the average in the sale of most major commodities. The figures show Washington to be 84 per cent ahead in grocery store sales, 134 per cent in drug store sales, 167 per cent ahead in department store sales, 46 per cent in variety store sales, 26 per cent ahead in automobile sales, 53 per cent ahead in tire and accessory sales, and 19 per cent ahead in hardware sales.

cial vice president of the Pennsylvania, and George M. Shriver, senior vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio.

President Hoover made maintenance and repair work on railroads one of the nine points in his recent program for enlivening business.

The corporation last night issued a bulletin signed by Fred C. Croxton, assistant to the directors in charge of emergency relief work, making it plain that the corporation has no intention of lending to any State municipality which can not show a real need.

It emphasized that the board considered the intent of the act to be clear that any loans from the $300,000,000 fund should be "not in lieu of but merely supplemental to local and State governmental funds and private contributions which are available or which can be made available and only as a last resort in case funds from such sources are inadequate."

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Gov. Pinchot today left for Washington to press Pennsylvania's claim for $45,000,000 of Federal relief money from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

"I am very keenly anxious to avoid any delay in securing the money for Pennsylvania's unemployed," he said before his departure. "I am going down to Washington to learn if there are any obstacles to immediate action and if possible to help remove them."

DEPARTMENT NOTES UPTURN IN BUSINESS

Cessation of Outward Flow of Gold and Improvement in Bonds Pointed Out.

(Associated Press.)

An upward movement in the business situation was noted yesterday by the Department of Commerce.

In July, it said, there was a cessation of the outward flow of gold and a moderate return movement, a general strengthening of the bond market resulting in improved prices, a halt in the urgent liquidation in the stock market and an advance in prices of a number of important commodities.

While the department made no predictions, business and financial experts pointed out that previous hard times had ended during the summer months when gradual upward movements had started in commodity prices. Industry had begun to manufacture and sell at a profit, even if slight, and the movement of farm products had brought about an increased buying. They said improvement in the past had not been noticed until six or seven months after the change had come.

The improvement noted in July by the department came after further recessions in June and was heralded as constructive developments that have "contributed to an improvement in sentiment."

The adjusted index of manufacturing activity showed several industries recording advances, after adjustment for seasonal factors. These advances were made by the automobile, textile, cement and tobacco industries.

The report said the downward trend in employment and payrolls had not been arrested and that factory employment was off 3.5 per cent in June and payrolls 7.8 to 43 per cent of the 1923-1925 average. Foreign trade, the department said, revealed no significant change with exports continuing to decline and imports remaining close to the May level.

Of 784 commodities reported by the Labor Department, 296 declined, 77 advanced and 411 did not change in price. Live stock and poultry prices advanced 8.2 per cent and cement 2.8 per cent. Plumbing and heating equipment advanced 3.6.

Apple Ban Rapped By U. S. Embassy

Joins French Importers in Protest Over Embargo During August.

Paris, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—The American Embassy joined French fruit importers tonight in an effort to persuade the ministry of agriculture to change the quota established on importation of American apples.

The ministry had decided there would be no American apples imported during August and the American imports in September would be limited to 12 car loadings.

Last year the American quota was 15 carloads in August and 100 in September. The reduction was made on the basis of the average for the last three years, the ministry said. American importers said the ruling was unfair.

VETERANS TO HONOR SECOND RIOT VICTIM

Dead Legionnaire Is to Be Given Arlington Rites, Same as Accorded Hushka.

Veteran organizations here are planning for Eric Carlson, bonus marcher, who died early yesterday from wounds received Thursday in the melee with police, the same military burial in Arlington National Cemetery that was impressively accorded yesterday to William J. Hushka, who died a few minutes after being wounded in the same fray.

Carlson was a member of the Lake Shore American Legion Post in Chicago. Pending word from a brother, Dr. John Carlson, of Oakland, Calif., however, plans for the veteran's funeral are being held in abeyance.

Taps, sounded by Staff Sergt. Frank Witchey, Third Cavalry bugler, who functioned similarly at rites for the Unknown Soldier, rang out over the Virginia hillside in Arlington yesterday, ending the military rites for Hushka. His brother, his divorced wife, his cousin and 11-year-old daughter stood by the open grave, with a delegation of B. E. F. members, including Commander Walter W. Waters and his wife.

2,000 in Procession.

Lined up with Hushka's family and the bonus marchers were representatives of all veteran organizations in the District. The Fife and Drum Corps of the American Legion had led the cortege from the funeral parlors of W. W. Chambers. The Rev. Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, conducted the services.

In the procession marched approximately 2,000 District veterans and other sympathizers. American Legion members, Veterans of Foreign War representatives and B. E. F. members acted as pallbearers.

Spectators caught an ironical note as it was noted the firing squad which participated in the obsequies was composed from the Third Cavalry, which last week routed the bonus army.

Long Service Overseas.

A telegram was received at police headquarters here last night, addressed to K. E. Carlson, of 5241 Forty-second street northwest, from Dr. Carlson in Oakland, asking that he care for the body of the dead bonus marcher who bears his name.

Called on the telephone, the Mr. Carlson here disclaimed knowledge of the situation and said he had nothing to say. He said he was not related to Eric Carlson, the slain veteran.

War Department officials yesterday said Carlson, the slain bonus marcher, had enlisted in the Army on April 30, 1917, at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. He served eighteen months overseas and was discharged May 30, 1918. Carlson served in numerous engagements, the War Department said.

Swollen Creek Sweeps Six In House to Their Death

Two Mothers and Four Children Perish Near Lexington, Ky.; Unprecedented Rainfall Causes $1,000,000 Property Damage.

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—A rainfall of 7.50 inches which burst upon Lexington and central Kentucky within a few hours' time today cost the lives of six persons and resulted in property damages estimated as high as $1,000,000.

The six victims were drowned when their house was swept away in a creek's flood waters 10 miles from here in Jessamine County. Scores joined in a search for the bodies of Mrs. Eddie Byrant, 38, and her two sons, Jesse, 9, and Willard, 10, and Mrs. Mary Ison, 23, and her two children, Geneva, 5, and Herschel, 2.

George Ison, 26, husband of Mrs. Mary Ison, with another son, George, jr., 7, and two others who were occupants of the same house—Thelma Bledso, 14, and Orval Bledsoe, 18—escaped. Mrs. Bryant was the mother of the Bledsoe children.

The rain, the heaviest ever recorded in this section, flooded downtown streets, basements of homes and business houses and stranded motorists here, blocked several highways and interrupted power and wire service. From Winchester, Frankfort, Richmond and other nearby points came reports of heavy rains, but damage was not great. The State highway department reported at least two houses at Fort Spring had been washed away, but without loss of life.

At Boonesboro, on the Kentucky River, a rainfall of 7.41 inches was reported, and the river rose 17.4 feet in a few hours.

Harrison Reeves 44; John Tsotsos, 43, and Cedor Laschuk, all of Chicago; Stephen Borowitz, 38; Christos Kapanadses, 43; John Domnarian, 37, all of Detroit; Walter Gulowski, 40, of Toledo; Waladis Mockawica, 40, Cleveland, and Paul Kirtsch, 37, of Hoboken, N. J.

Levin has been prominent in efforts of the Workers Ex-Service Men's League to affiliate with the bonus army ever since the latter body's coming here. At one time he was nearly manhandled at the Anacostia camp of the veterans, as he sought to preach Communist doctrines there.

Eye-witnesses Saw Pistol.

Among civilian eye-witnesses who testified at the inquest yesterday were Stephen Armstrong, 1410 M street northwest. He said he saw a roughly dressed civilian flourishing a pistol in the Pennsylvania avenue building, where the veterans were fatally wounded, just before the disturbance ended.

Private Znamencek made a voluntary statement on advice of his attorney, Bart Clines. It follows:

"I followed Maj. Glassford up the steps of the abandoned building in which the bonus marchers had congregated. A crowd followed us up, shouting, 'Get the major.'

"I spread my arms to hold the onrushing bonus marchers back, and noticed a bulge in one of the men's shirts. I felt to see what it was. The mob rushed me and knocked me down. I got up and something hit me on the head. It felt as though my head were sailing through the air.

Policeman Hurt by Brick.

"I broke loose and drew my gun. Down at the foot of the stairway, Officer Shinault was battling with a number of men. One of them had him by the throat and was trying to strangle him. Dodging bricks, I aimed at and shot that man. I found out later he was Carlson."

Znamencek, physicians testified, received a slight concussion of the brain, as the result of being struck by a brickbat in the fray, and also a leg injury.

Attorney Tells of Scuffle.

Jesse C. Duke, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, cross-examined Armstrong, as did Assistant United States Attorney William H. Collins, for the Government. Duke developed that Armstrong was "beginning to make" contracts with the Treasury Department.

Arthur C. Stickler, newspapermen and attorney, of Arlington County, Va., told of the scuffle that precipitated the shooting. He said he saw "many bricks" hurled at the policemen.

A deposition by Edwin A. Hoffman, jr., of Yaden, Delaware County, Pa., was then read into the record. Hoffman said he saw a policeman being beaten by some bonus marchers and expressed the opinion that the policeman "had to shoot to save his life."

Gen. Glassford said he saw Shinault being beaten by some of the veterans and that as he went to his assistance Shinault, from the ground, fired at them.

Glassford Warned Man.

"I saw one man beat him with a club, another with his fist. • • • As he was being clubbed severely I saw him shoot and a man 4 feet away fell to the ground."

Coincident with the release of the radicals yesterday, Mr. Rover announced resumption tomorrow by the grand jury of its probe into the rioting.

Three cases, all of a minor character, have been completed. About six more instances of violations of the criminal laws are expected, though if an intensive investigation now being made by Government agents unearths any "red" connections, more indictments will be returned.

Police Laxity Explained.

Nugent Dodds, assistant to the Attorney General, is expected to lead the handling of the case before the grand jury tomorrow. He was assigned to the inquiry by Attorney General Mitchell.

Following up instructions of President Hoover in the matter of general enforcement of all police regulations in Washington, the District Commissioners yesterday conferred with Gen. Glassford during the semi-weekly board meeting.

Afterward Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman, said that the President's wishes would be strictly adhered to.

The Commissioners also discussed with the police superintendent the manner of enforcing the order issued last Saturday barring all organized groups from the District unless they can show they have a lawful purpose or do not intend to become public charges.

Only 3 B. E. F. Families Remaining in Washington

Only three bonus army families remain in Washington under the care of the American Red Cross, it was learned yesterday. If there are others, they have not been reported to police or the Red Cross.

Since the drive against the bonus army last week the Red Cross has furnished 24 families with means of getting to their home towns.

The three families now in Washington are forced to remain in the city because they have children who are ill. Some of the children are being looked after by private families, while others are in hospitals.

KIDNAPERS TRAPPED IN RICHMOND BANK

Capitalist and Official of Orphanage Victims of Abduction Hoax.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Two youths, holding a capitalist and an orphanage superintendent as captives, were trapped by police in a Richmond bank today as they sought to collect $7,500 in ransom money.

A last minute delivery from their captors came to George N. Davis, 65, of Richmond, and R. K. Robertson, superintendent of the Davis-Stuart Orphanage, as they stood under threat of pistols in the bank, following an all-night ride from Lewisburg, W. Va., where they were kidnaped.

The two youths gave their names as Jack Liggett, 25, of Charleston, W. Va., and William Craft, alias Paul Whittington, 21, of Wheeling, W. Va. The two were held on charges of attempted robbery with pistols, an offense punishable with death in Virginia.

After hours of questioning, Maj. R. B. Jordan, chief of police, said the men signed confessions.

The arrests were made in the midst of the noonday rush at the First and Merchants Bank, where Davis was a depositor, while posses scoured the mountainous region between Lewisburg and the Virginia border for trace of Davis and Robertson.

The men were victims in a hoax perpetrated by the two youths, who posed as internal revenue agents, investigating Davis' income tax papers.

Fred G. Mitchell, vice president of the bank here, had been warned that Davis might be in trouble and appear here. He notified police, who arrived at the bank while Davis was stalling his kidnapers, who were seeking to force him to make a withdrawal of $7,500 from his account. When accosted, the youths turned their guns from Davis and Robertson to the officers, and police weapons were drawn, but the arrest was made without gunfire.

Evelyn Nesbit Settles Auto-Crash Damages

Evelyn Nesbit, former wife of Harry K. Thaw, yesterday settled damages which resulted when her automobile was in collision with that of Ernest Sisson, of Alexandria, Va. The crash occurred at Washington and Franklin streets in Alexandria.

No one was injured. Miss Nesbit, who gave her address as Northfield, N. J., was the central figure in the slaying of Stanford White, noted architect, by her husband.

CAMP FOR BONUS VETERANS IS BANNED BY MARYLAND

ernor's office was even briefer than Waters', but it gave in more detail the reasons why Maryland could not permit the veterans to establish their colony.

Statement of Ritchie.

It follows:

"After hearing fully from Commander Waters his plans for the proposed settlement of the bonus veterans in Anne Arundel County, and after receiving the advice of the State health department on the project, Gov. Ritchie assured Commander Waters that the proposed settlement would not comply with the health and sanitary laws of the State, and would involve a menace to the health of the veterans, who might come to the settlement, as well as to others, and, therefore, the State could not permit the same."

Troubles piled up for the tattered bonus expeditionary force today as showers drenched their camp, police identified some of their equipment as stolen Government property, and health officials condemned the billets as insanitary.

Typhoid Fever Reports.

One case of typhoid fever was reported, and fears were expressed that the disease might spread in the dirty, smelly camp.

Deputy U. S. Marshal J. G. Lowers, of Pittsburgh, came to Johnstown today with several Washington Metropolitan police officers.

After serving a writ of replevin and a search warrant on Camp Commander William Waite, they took one of his men, Isadore Kanner, of New York, into custody. Kanner was released after a hearing before United States Commissioner Ray Patton Smith when Government agents failed to produce evidence linking him with the alleged theft.

The writ was issued to recover 32 tents belonging to the National Guard and allegedly brought here when the bonus army fled after disorders in Washington last week.

Warrants for Two Others.

Police had warrants for two men, in addition to Kanner, but were unable to find them. The warrants charge larceny. Lowers and the Washington officers arrived in camp just after a pelting rain had soaked the bedraggled campers.

The 7,000 men, women and children, gathered in a mess line, cheered lustily for Mayor Eddie McCloskey of Johnstown as he escorted the party through the camp.

The officers departed without the throng knowing what had taken place.

Military police were kept busy, however, handling the crowd that milled about headquarters tent, where Lowers conferred with officials of the expedition.

Lowers announced upon his arrival that he wanted to serve a writ on Doak Carter, chief of staff of the B. E. F., but Carter was nowhere to be found. He did not visit headquarters and his aids said they had not heard from him all day.

Will Report to Government.

Lowers said he will report the result of his investigation to the Government. He was assured by McCloskey that "I'll take the Government into court if you touch one of these shelters."

Maj. Coleman B. Mark, State sanitary engineer sent here by the State health department, started an investigation of health conditions and vaccination of the entire 7,000 was recommended.

City council, in a session occupied almost wholly by talk of the situation arising out of occupation of the camp by the B. E. F., arranged to provide cots in the camp and promised aid in handling medical cases. About a dozen members of the expedition are ill.

Virtual sanitary "martial law" was enforced in the camp tonight as a result of the State's action in stepping in. The warm rain, followed by bright sunshine, cooked up a stench that was stifling.

Several Dozen Leave.

Camp workers estimate that several dozen veterans and their families, many without a bite of wholesome food for weeks, have "shoved off" for their home States in rickety cars.

Police precautions taken following last night's disorder, when radicals attempted to hold a meeting in Johnstown, were tightened today with reports that more Reds are coming to the city.

Detectives poked through known hideouts on the information that Johnny Pace, radical leader who figured in the Washington disorders, had arrived.

But few new arrivals joined the bedraggled horde at the camp today. It was the first day since the occupation that more went out than came in.

Mong Indicted in $1,301 Theft.

An indictment charging Clair B. Mong, former municipal employe, with embezzlement was returned by the District grand jury yesterday. Mong is charged with appropriating to his own use $1,301 he received from physicians applying for a license to practice medicine here.

'Civilized' Foods Boost Toothache in Alaska

(Associated Press.)

Toothaches are increasing among Eskimos of Alaska in proportion to the amount of white man's food they eat.

The Smithsonian Institution said yesterday that among 25 Eskimos who still live on fish, seal, walrus, birds and whale meat, and seldom see whites, not a single case of tooth decay was found by Henry B. Collins, Smithsonian scientist. At Nome, largest white settlement in Alaska, on the other hand, he found seven out of nine natives had decayed teeth.

Change of diet from native to "civilized" foods is undoubtedly the predisposing factor in the increased tooth decay, said the Smithsonian announcement. Before the advent of the whites, Eskimos had the least amount of tooth decay of any racial group in the world.

TROOPS ARE DENIED IN MINE OUTBREAK

latter was Leonard Colalader, a bystander from the village of Pimento.

Others suffered cuts and bruises from brickbats and other missles as union pickets closed around the mine in a desperate effort to force suspension of its operation by nonunion labor.

The fighting was resumed after a heavy rainstorm late this afternoon drenched pickets and guards alike.

The latter, 75 strong, were intrenched in the mine tipple house where they kept a machine gun whirring. The attackers, numbering about 2,500, dodged behind trees, slag piles and shacks, firing back with rifles. Bullets pinged against buildings and rocks.

Terrified villagers, some of whose homes were in the range of fire, fled. Dreher and his six deputies said they all narrowly missed being hit. Prosecutor Charles Whitlock also was forced to dodge bullets when he attempted to pacify the fighters.

The sheriff, who has been demanding in vain for several days that National Guardsmen be sent, said the pickets were in an ugly mood.

They are disgruntled over continued attempts to run the Dixie Bee with nonunion workers, at wages considerably lower than the union scale. The Dixie Bee is the only deep shaft mine in the vicinity now running.

"And it will continue to run," said Morton C. Embree, attorney for the operators.

"There are 75 men at the mine, all well armed, and they are going to keep the shaft open. If miners want to work in it, that is their privilege and no striker is going to stop them."

Gov. Harry G. Leslie previously said he hoped operators would close down for a few days so arbitrators might settle the dispute without violence.

The Dixie Bee has been strift torn several weeks. For three consecutive days last week the pickets forced it to stay closed by massing so closely around the tipple that workers could not enter.

Sheriff Dreher and Prosecutor Whitlock hurried into Terre Haute shortly after dusk and called a conference with operators of the mine in the hope that the latter would consent to cease operations until arbitrators could settle the dispute. Whitlock said that if the governor failed to respond with the National Guards he would attempt to reach Federal Judge Robert Baltzell in Indianapolis in an attempt to obtain a troop of Federal soldiers.

Ring and Necklace Stolen.

Miss Agnes Ebbets, of the Grace Dodge Hotel, reported to police yesterday the theft of a ring and a necklace, valued at $90, from her room several days ago.

EASTERN CAMPAIGN STARTED BY HEBERT

Opens G. O. P. Office In New York as Walker Denies Albany Aim.

New York, Aug. 3 (A.P.).—A quiet-mannered, soft-spoken senator from Rhode Island, Felix Hebert came to New York today to open the Republicans' Eastern campaign, while the Democrats began moving into their extensive national headquarters in a midtown hotel.

At the same time Mayor Walker spiked a report he planned to run for governor to succeed Franklin D. Roosevelt, if the Democratic standard-bearer removed him from his city office.

Since the report cropped up two days ago, there has been widespread speculation about what the effect would be on the presidential race if Walker, a Tammany sachem, were to oppose Roosevelt's own choice for the gubernatorial nomination, who is presumed to be Lieut. Gov. Lehman.

"There's absolutely nothing to the report," Walker said with vigor.

Meantime, Samuel Seabury, who directed the investigation of Walker's administration, spent another day laboring over a rebuttal to the mayor's reply to charges filed with the governor.

The arrival of the Republican Eastern campaign manager was made the occasion of an impressive gathering of Republican leaders, chief among them Everett Sanders, national chairman. They conferred for most of the day on the financial and strategical phases of the campaign which will formally open August 11 with the President's acceptance speech.

MISSOURI SENATE RACE LED BY WET

from the State-wide primary election.

A sweep for Alfred M. Landon, independent oil operator, over two Republican opponents, one an avowed wet, put him in position to oppose Woodring for reelection next November.

The returns indicated former Gov. Ben S. Paulen had won the Republican senatorial nomination, although friends of Joe H. Mercer, veteran secretary of the Kansas Live Stock Association, refused to concede their candidate was out of the running. Paulen had a 2-to-1 lead over Mercer and James F. Getty, Kansas City attorney, in the field of seven contestants.

Repeal Advocate Beaten.

Senator McGill, who has been a dry, piled up a 2-to-1 margin over former Representative Chauncey B. Little, advocate of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Toward the close of his campaign in the pioneer dry State, Little said he had found "the Kansan is just as wet as the New Yorker or man from any other Eastern State."

Woodring shook off the challenge of Donald Muir, of Anthony.

Reports from over the State indicated heavy balloting, despite showers in some sections.

First District Feature.

Three represetnatives in Congress, Harold McGugin and Homer Hoch, Republicans, in the Third and Fourth Districts, and W. A. Ayers, of Wichita, veteran Democrat, running in the new Fifth District, were renominated without opposition.

The feature of the congressional scramble was in the realigned First District, where Representatives W. P. Lambertson and James G. Strong were batling for the Republican nomination as the result of the reapportionment which reduced the State's representation by one.

Early Returns.

Returns from 49 out of 2,276 precincts in Kansas for the Democratic nomination for governor gave:

How to Be Beautiful

By ELSIE PIERCE

Squinting Is a Sure Way to Get Wrinkles.

THE insidious thing about wrinkles is the fact that they are scarcely noticeable at first. They etch their way around the eyes, mouth, throat slowly but surely. Just like old age. It doesn't come overnight. Youth slipped a little yesterday, a little more today and the day after tomorrow or several years from then it will probably die. So with wrinkles. You wake up one fine morning (or perhaps it's a dull day) and find a few deep wrinkles staring back at you from the mirror, scaring you into a quick rush for the skinfood jar or antiwrinkle oil bottle.

We Beauty Editors dislike to give these "prevention preachings" quite as much as readers hate to take them. But they are necessary and given in the hope that eventually they will bring pressure to bear. If eventually, why not now may seem trite, but it's a hopeful phrase.

Take sun-squinting, for instance. We all do it. Look up at the sun ever so slyly from the corner of your eye, or out on the wide expanse of white sand at the beach, or across the surf with its shining sunbeams riding the crests of waves. Like as not, you are squinting. And the constant contraction and expansion of the delicate tissues around the eyes soon exhausts some of the skin's elasticity. Fine surface lines become deeper and sometimes change to folds. You can prevent these easily, but you can't erase them quickly once they are in. They linger long. They are the bane of every woman's existence, for though they may be born of neglect, they are regarded as signs of age.

A Little Cream Every Day.

A little cream every day will keep wrinkles at bay. There's a beauty slogan worth remembering and practicing. A rich, emollient cream, or a little lubricating wrinkle oil patted gently over the delicate skin around the eyes, every day, or several times a day. Learn how to mold gently, but firmly, pressing the lifting strokes from the corner of the nose out to the temple, both above and below the eyes. A little cotton compress wrung out of hot water and placed over the eyes for a few minutes, followed by patting with a little oil or cream, makes an excellent treatment. Do it before you retire and leave a little on as long as you like, overnight if you can. Put it on in the morning and leave on while you take your bath or dress; again at noon before going out; whenever you have an opportunity. Before and after motoring or lolling about on the beach be sure to use oil or cream, or better yet a little wrinkle oil followed by cream over any lines and wrinkles, and, let me repeat, around the eyes. Even the oily type of skin that needs no cream over the rest of face and neck must have this lubricating around the eyes.

If you follow this simple treatment you won't have a crop of squint lines and wrinkles (and let me assure you that they are every bit as aging and discouraging as any other variety).

The eyes need special care during the summer. Eye lotions, make-up, exercise and complete care for all are discussed in my new bulletin on eyes. A self-addressed, stamped envelope will bring this bulletin to you.

Elsie Pierce, famous beauty lecturer, will answer any questions on beauty you wish to ask her. Address Miss Pierce, in care of The Washington Post, inclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope.

What Today Means to You

By MARY BLAKE

"LEO."

IF AUGUST 3 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:15 a. m. to 10 a. m., from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 1:35 p. m. and from 6 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

Fate will not be in an interfering mood on August 3, and most preconceived plans should be carried out according to schedule. Romanticism promises to influence the doings of young people, and infatuation may be camouflaged as love. Home affairs should pursue the even tenor of their way. Possible illness indicated for an elderly member of the family.

The child born on this August 3 will not have an adventurous spirit, and will stick to the main thoroughfares of life where there are plenty of guiding sign posts, and assistance at hand. It will plod through life in a conscientious way, filling its destined niche with credit to itself and satisfaction to others.

Born on August 3, you are not overly ambitious, and are content to be one of a crowd. Even in the greater interests of life, you fail to exert yourself beyond the level of mediocrity. Your days are lived without a thought beyond the passing interest of the moment, and the proverbial "rainy day" would find you poorly prepared for a deluge of misfortune. Your head and heart pull in contrary directions—desire versus reason—and desire usually wins out. You cater to your whims and fancies; you scowl at your duties and obligations. You figuratively buy things first and afford them afterward.

You will have many hobbies, but very few which will run two seasons. It is the same in both work and play, you start things off with a bang of enthusiasm which should seemingly mean victory, but after the first steam the power diminishes down to nothing. In other words, you are not a sticker. Your "beginner's luck" could be followed by continuous good results, if you had more perseverance and stick-to-it-iveness. There are excellent possibilities for one of your "make-up," but poor probabilities. Your abilities will never be properly capitalized. Susceptible to flattery and avid for affection, your mate, if clever, can twist you around his or her finger.

Successful People Born on August 3:

1—Lord Aberdeen, former Governor General of Canada.
2—Stanley Baldwin, former English prime minister.
3—Andrew Giles, clergyman.
4—Dolores Del Rio, film artist.
5—Elisha G. Otis, elevator inventor.
6—Francis Delafield, physician.

Culbertson on Bridge

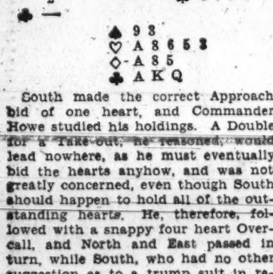
By ELY CULBERTSON

MAKING IT EMPHATIC.

WHEN a player makes a sound Opening bid, even though the chosen trump suit is weak, but his hand contains 4 honor-tricks, he can not be greatly blamed if such a bid is immediately overcalled by a game contract in the same suit, for inserting a Penalty Double in the bidding machinery when it returns to him.

Commander W. B. Howe, U. S. N., stationed at Philadelphia, Pa., tells the story of a hand dealt in a naval Rubber game, in which he was the happy holder of the West hand shown herewith:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



South made the correct Approach bid of one heart, and Commander Howe studied his holdings. A Double for a Take-out, he reasoned, would lead nowhere, as he must eventually bid the hearts anyhow, and was not greatly concerned, even though South should happen to hold all of the outstanding hearts. He, therefore, followed with a snappy four heart Overcall, and North and East passed in turn, while South, who had no other suggestion as to a trump suit in reserve, felt that his Ace-King of clubs and Ace of diamonds should count for 3 defensive tricks, and certainly the Ace of hearts would be another. He, therefore, doubled, and the contracting was ended.

North opened the spade King, and West not only made his contract, but an overtrick as well. Had North elected to open the club, West's path to game would not have been so easy, as the repeated ruffs in that suit, faced with the necessity of driving out the Ace of trumps and drawing the adverse trumps, would have required the entire strength of the West hand to accomplish it.

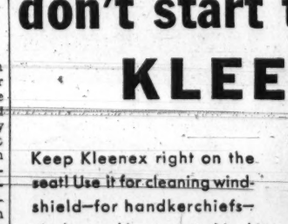
TODAY'S POINTER.

A sound principle of Contract bidding is never to depend upon your partner to make a declaration which your holdings and the previous bidding clearly indicate you should make. The Approach principle is based upon the theory, true of most hands, that the correct final declaration cannot be determined without the exchange of information between the partners, as well as the information given by opponents as to their holdings. Hands of a rigid type, however, require different treatment.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

The bidding and play of the hand printed below will be discussed tomorrow:

South—Dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.



Study the hand, decide how you would bid and play it, and then compare the results you obtain with those shown in tomorrow's article.

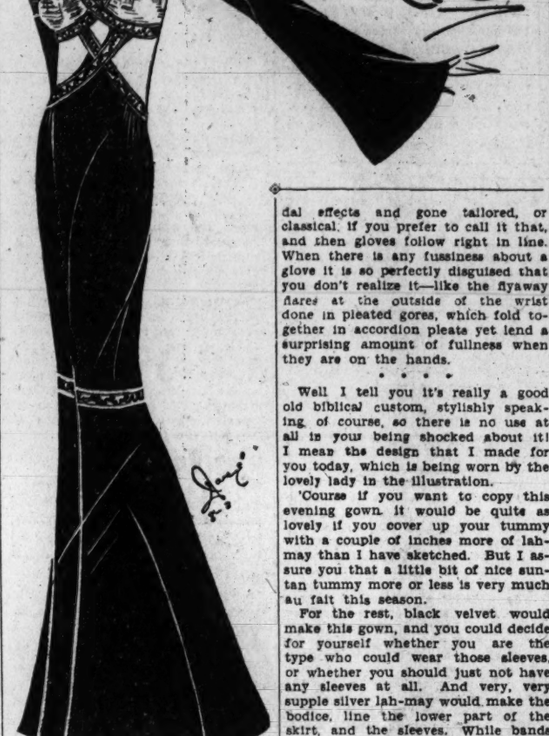
Interpreting the Mode

By DARE

Black velvet, supple silver lah-may and bands of antique silver braid embroidered with artificial amethyst gems make an exotic evening gown, or tea gown, for Miladi Dareing. (A Dah-ray design.)



NEW YORK, Aug. 2.—Have you paid any attention to gloves lately, my deah? In everything there is change, in gloves perhaps more subtle change than in other versions of the mode—but to a seeing eye a change nevertheless.

'Tis in their length, and due to the fact that the newest gloves avoid all of those exaggerated cuffs and mousquetaire effects, that we see this change. The very newest gloves end shortly and snugly right at the wrist, and there, indeed, is posed the trimming.

Then, too, we have heard a lot about black gloves—but have we seen a lot of black gloves? The answer is no, but also that we are going to see them. And for the coming season, the black glove is not going to be one of those carefully-chosen-for-its-startling-chic-and-contrast affairs, either. 'Tis going to be worn as a staple, let the cleaners howl though they may—and no doubt will.

Another new glove is going to be in dark brown—oh, very dark—and worn as a staple in the same way that black will be worn. It's just like the shoe, you know—the glove depends for its color entirely upon its adaptability to other chic colors in the mode. And with black and autumnal browns, and those lovely dark reds being so well accepted for fall, it is not surprising that dark brown and black should be smart fall colors in gloves.

It's surprising how closely allied gloves and shoes are! Here shoes have given up all of their fancy sandal effects and gone tailored, or classical, if you prefer to call it that, and then gloves follow right in line. When there is any fussiness about a glove it is so perfectly disguised that you don't realize it—like the flyaway flares at the outside of the wrist done in pleated gores, which fold together in accordion pleats yet lend a surprising amount of fullness when they are on the hands.

* * * *

Well I tell you it's really a good old biblical custom, stylishly speaking, of course, so there is no use at all in your being shocked about it! I mean the design that I made for you today, which is being worn by the lovely lady in the illustration.

'Course if you want to copy this evening gown, it would be quite as lovely if you cover up your tummy with a couple of inches more of lah-may than I have sketched. But I assure you that a little bit of nice suntan tummy more or less is very much au fait this season.

For the rest, black velvet would make this gown, and you could decide for yourself whether you are the type who could wear those sleeves, or whether you should just not have any sleeves at all. And very, very supple silver lah-may would make the bodice, line the lower part of the skirt, and the sleeves. While bands of very beautiful silver braid, embroidered with amethysts, would complete the idea.

And wouldn't it make a lovely tea gown or negligee, too?

* * * *

Well, it's a big jump from looking at today's illustration to doing the dishes, isn't it? But we must do the dishes, just the same—'nif you wear your prettiest teddy under your housedress, you probably know from sad experience what perfectly awful things might happen to it. So there is no heed at all to do this, especially when all you have to do is send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet, which tells you how to make some extremely chic and very practical lingerie for housedress wear.

Au revoir.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

"SPUNK" WATER FOR WARTS.

HERE is a letter from a young man who wants to know how to cure warts. He specifies that the warts are not his, but they adorn the hand of a young woman. When one considers cures for warts it is well to know who has them as well as the variety and location.

Dr. Zwick confused and confounded a meeting of his professional associates not so long ago by reading a paper on magic cures for warts. The learned essayist accepted it as proved that warts had been prayed off, as well as removed by suggestion, by voodooism, by magic of many kinds, and by the use of "spunk" water and by a multitude of other remedies of various kinds.

When Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer removed warts with "spunk," water they had precedent for what they were about. Others had removed warts just that way. Likewise, their method was based on the same principle as removal by drawing a drop of blood from the wart, putting it on paper, and leaving this where some one would touch it. There is even proof, of a kind, that warts can be removed by certain measures at some stages of the moon, but not at others.

It may be claimed that methods that employ physical measures such as bleeding, maceration by soaking in water and washing are not wholly dependent on magic for their potency.

Warts are very uncertain in their ways. They come without being called and they are apt to go without saying good-by. It is no common occurrence for one to hear: "What's become of my wart? It was right here last Christmas. Now it is gone and no trace of it can be seen. I do not know when it left. I had not noticed before that it was no longer here."

As a matter of fact, warts do not stay with us from the cradle to the grave. On the other hand, they come, stay a variable time, and then go as mysteriously as they came. In these circumstances, of course, there is uncertainty, and cures are as numerous as one could wish.

But a 16-year-old girl with a wart is likely to be impatient. What cares she if the experience of the last six thousand years proves that warts are present pro tem.? She wants hers to vacate with haste.

She can burn them off with either acid, alkali, heat, solidified carbonic, or with electricity. The burning must be deep enough to get the bleeding point that lies in the deeper part of the wart—what some call the root. If she wants to use heat, a red hot needle or pin works well. If she wishes to use chemicals, caustic soda or sulphuric acid—even nitrate of silver—will do. The chemical must not reach any tissue except that of the wart. The corn remedies, composed as they are of salicylic mixtures, will seldom kill tissues deep enough to cure warts. If the wart is stalked it can be tied off with a strong thread.

If the young lady has some patience she should succeed in losing her wart if she will grease it daily with castor oil or will apply spirits of camphor daily and, after the alcohol has evaporated, grease with the oil.

If warts are in moist areas, or if they are in crops, there is a chance that they are due to bacteria. If so, they should be dusted daily with calomel powder or greased with calomel ointment. They should be kept as dry as possible, and for those with more patience and more faith there remain magic and psychotherapy.

EXERCISE IS ADVISABLE.

Mrs. J. W. writes: About four years ago I was operated on and had a tube removed. Two years ago I had my gall bladder and appendix out. I am now very much overweight. Do you think it safe for me to exercise? My incisions healed very quickly after the operation.

REPLY.

Of course, it is safe. More than that, it is advisable. You have had all the removals you need. Try to live more vigorously and save what's left.

And think of it, you can run it up on the sewing machine before breakfast.

PEANUT SANDWICHES.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

You can make a peanut sandwich that has all the nutty flavor and some of the texture of the nuts themselves if you get freshly roasted peanuts and put them through your food chopper, using a medium-fine knife. Do not use the nut knife because it will grind the peanuts so fine that they will be pasty when mixed for the sandwiches. By using the medium-fine knife there will be tiny pieces of the nuts in the sandwich filling.

Mix the ground nuts with just enough cream or rich milk to moisten them for a sandwich spread. Add salt to season the mixture. Graham or whole wheat bread is especially good to use for these sandwiches, says the bureau.

This combination is particularly high in food value, because the protein of wheat and that of the peanuts become "complete" or "efficient" when the two are eaten together. Complete proteins are necessary to the body for building and repairing tissues and for supplying energy.

In addition to peanut sandwiches, a child might like to have some filled with tomato or lettuce or both, and an apple or some other fruit, to round out a good, substantial, well-balanced lunch.

B.E.F. EJECTION HIT AT LEGION SESSION

Attitude of Officials Here Is Criticized in Routing of Marchers.

Attitude taken by Government officials in the ejection of bonus marchers from their Washington camps was assailed yesterday at the second day's session of the fourteenth annual State convention of the American Legion, Department of Virginia, in Alexandria.

Declaring that "somebody in Washington lost his head during the bonus disturbance," Forrest G. Cooper, Southern vice commander of the national Legion organization, attacked the means by which the veterans were driven from the city.

"I hung my head in shame," Cooper told the convention, "when I read that the Government I fought for used gas, tanks and cavalry against my buddies."

While not in sympathy with "those misguided souls who marched on the Capital," Cooper said that a cool head was all that was needed in a situation of that kind.

Termed as Lobbyists.

He described members of the bonus army as "only lobbyists."

"Other lobbyists," he added, "can go to Washington and be feted—and they usually get what they want."

Cooper, who is from Mississippi, urged the formation of a "National Council of Reconstruction" to function along the lines of the National Council of Defense during the war days. The council would serve veterans and others alike, he said.

The bonus question continued to loom in the foreground. A number of resolutions regarding payment of the bonus, which were brought up Monday, yesterday were still in the hands of the resolutions committee. Many controversial resolutions, including ones on prohibition, are expected to be acted upon at today's session.

Although payment of the bonus holds the center of discussion, the convention will probably agree not to ask for payment at present.

Col. John A. Cutchins, of Richmond, proposed a resolution calling for abolition of both disability allowances and hospitalization privileges in nonservice connected cases. Veterans disabled outside the line of duty were the subjects of a heated discussion.

At the present rate veterans of the World War would cost the Government between 60 and 90 billions of dollars, Brig. Gen. Frank Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, informed the convention. He said, however, the whole question of veterans' benefits "merits the consideration of the Legion."

Counterattack.

A stormy counterattack came from John Thomas Taylor, vice chairman of the legion's national legislative committee. He defended the right of all veterans to hospitalization and declared the legion was the object of "an insidious propaganda attack."

Maj. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Third Corps Area, told the legionnaires they must feel the responsibility of maintaining national defense.

It was announced that Portsmouth Post, No. 37, was winner in the drum and bugle corps contest during Monday's parade.

A long and heated session is expected today.

Influence of Auxiliary Is Lauded at Convention

The inspiring influence, material service and the helpful aid of the American Legion Auxiliary of the Department of Virginia were praised yesterday by Dr. Adam T. Finch, department commander, when he addressed the auxiliary convention in Alexandria. Robert W. Tolson, assistant chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the legion, also spoke.

The business meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. B. M. Roszel. Mrs. W. P. Sadler, department rehabilitation chairman, told of relief work in the State during the last year. Miss Hilda S. White, of Portsmouth, Le Chapeau Departmental, 8 et 40, brought greetings from that group and presented its check for $25.

At noon a past presidents' parley luncheon was held at the Anchorage. Miss Cora A. Vaughn presided. Mrs. Roszel was elected president of the parley for the coming year.

The annual 8 et 40 banquet was held last night at the George Mason Hotel. Miss White presided and Mrs. William Murphy, of Pleasantville, N. Y., national chapeau, was guest of honor. Business sessions will be resumed tomorrow morning and officers will be elected.

ing our forefathers. Ours will be victory. It can not be doubted.

"How can we fear a people drafted into the inclement Chaco while we, descended from the Guarani Indians, are capable of dominating the jungles." This was a reference to the Chaco lowlands where the Bolivian troops, accustomed to a high altitude, already are reported suffering severely.

The government announced it could not accept Spain's offer to mediation because it would interfere with the efforts of neutrals at Washington. Appreciation was expressed.

President Guggiari's order reinitiating the decoration for valor, Orden Nacional Merito, which is a cherished heritage of the famous war of 1870, aroused enthusiasm. Crowds shouted, "Win 'la orden' as your forefathers did!"

The newspaper El Liberal announced women of Concepcion had offered to raise an "Amazon" battalion and had asked the government for instructions for training.

Asuncion, Paraguay, Aug. 2 (A.P.). The government today ordered a battalion of newly recruited troops into the heart of the disputed Chaco territory.

Bolivian Mobilization Due.

La Paz, Bolivia, Aug 2 (A.P.).—A general mobilization of Bolivian forces at any moment was said in responsible Bolivian quarters tonight to be a possibility following similar action by Paraguay.

The foreign office announced receipt of two telegrams from Jose Matos, president of the League of Nations Council, urging a peaceful solution of the Chaco boundary dispute with Paraguay.

It declined to say what reply would be forwarded to Geneva, but a high official told the Associated Press that the Bolivian answer would be the same as that given to the note from neutrals at Washington, in which Bolivia flatly declared for an immediate settlement of the fundamental question of the Chaco territory, else it would resort to war.

Military preparations proceeded apace.

Negotiations Continue Here.

(Associated Press.)

Fourteen Latin-American governments were asked by neutral negotiators yesterday to join in a note calling upon Paraguay and Bolivia to cease all warlike activities.

At the same time representatives of the five neutral powers, the United States, Mexico, Cuba, Colombia and Uruguay, dispatched a reply to Bolivia's note of Monday in which she announced she would settle the Chaco dispute "even by the force of arms," asking whether Bolivia would submit the question to arbitration and suspend hostilities "on the basis of possessions (in the Chaco) maintained by Bolivia and Paraguay on June 1, 1932."

Two Paraguayan communications, delivered at the State Department yesterday by Pablo Ynafran, charge d'affaires, and Juan Jose Soler, Paraguayan delegate to the nonaggression treaty parley, accused Bolivia of violating international law by waging warfare without a formal declaration of hostilities.

Two Men Indicted In Henry Slaying

First-Degree Murder Laid to Philadelphians in Gambler's Death.

The District grand jury yesterday returned an indictment charging Charles and Harry Davis, both of Philadelphia, with murder in the first degree in connection with the murder of Milton (Milsie) Henry, small-time gambler, who was shot to death in front of his Brown street home April 21.

Both men are being held in the District Jail. They were arrested several days ago after members of the homicide squad of the Detective Bureau had conducted a three-month investigation.

Henry was shot by two men, who drove up to his small roadster and blazed away at him with sawed-off shotguns.

THE BONUS RIOT.

A coroner's jury has found that the two policemen who shot two riotous bonus marchers last Thursday used their weapons in self-defense and in performance of their duties.

The evidence presented to the jury disclosed beyond doubt that the bonus marchers had become a mob, and that a murderous assault was made upon the police. The peace officers did not provoke the attack, nor did they use violence in the attempt to perform their duty. It was only when they were in imminent danger of death in performance of duty that they used their weapons. The two men who were shot were actually making an attack as leaders of a mob that was seeking to kill the police. Supt. Glassford and a civilian witness testified that they saw a member of the mob flourishing a revolver as the police were attacked. One of the policemen who used a pistol was knocked down and badly wounded by a blow on the head. The other was attacked by a number of men and was being strangled when he fired.

The facts elicited by the coroner's jury reveal that many members of the bonus army had raised their hands against law and order. They were so numerous and so violent that the Police Department was unable to cope with them. If troops had not been sent in, a battle between the police and the mob would have resulted in many casualties and deaths. Only the appearance of an overwhelming force cowed the mob and prevented it from running into an orgy of murderous violence.

For partisan political reasons an effort is made to convince the people of the United States that President Hoover became panic-stricken and issued orders which resulted in the mistreatment of innocent and unoffending citizens by a brutal soldiery. A picture is drawn by which it would appear that the President of the United States suddenly and without knowledge of the situation improperly exercised his authority to employ military force on a gigantic scale, without necessity, and with consequences of atrocious brutality.

If any President should be guilty of such an act it would be in order for the House of Representatives to impeach him and for the Senate to remove him. But President Hoover did not do this. He used military power only when necessity required it in order to quell a riot and enforce the laws. The District of Columbia was unable to cope with the rioters. If the President had not performed his duty the seat of government might have become the scene of appalling anarchy, incendiarism and bloodshed.

No political attempt to exalt the rioters into martyrs to brutal militarism can obscure the facts attending the bonus riot. Bonus marchers started the riot, defied lawful authority, refused to move from Federal property, and murderously attacked police sent to evict them. When the mob threatened to overpower the District civil force and run riot through the Capital, the President quelled it. These are the simple facts.

It is the special duty of the Federal Government to preserve order at the seat of government. The District of Columbia was established for the very purpose of maintaining public tranquillity at the seat of government, after Congress had suffered humiliation and danger at the hands of a mob in Philadelphia. President Hoover invoked military force only as a last resort, and then he wisely employed a force sufficient to put an instant stop to the riot and thus prevent bloodshed.

MAKING MORE JOBS.

President Hoover is expected to call a national conference of business and labor leaders to study the most practical means of spreading available work among a larger number of employes. The President is already committed to the principle of a shorter week for workingmen. Organized labor is making an active drive for fewer working hours, and industrial leaders seem to favor a greater distribution of purchasing power. No doubt a national conference would go a long way toward putting the five-day week, or its equivalent in work hours, into effect.

The Departments of Commerce and Labor are studying methods of distributing available work. Presumably the White House conference will not be held until they have had time to make their surveys and are ready to present concrete plans. The New Hampshire plan which was discussed in Monday's conferences has many promising features, but it will be well to present the problem from all of its angles to the proposed national gathering.

The principle behind this movement is fundamentally sound. It is estimated that more than 9,000,000 men are out of work in the United States because of the world-wide depression. Yet many of those who retain their jobs are in better circumstances than they were before hard times set in, because of the declining costs of living. The employment index for manufacturing industries, compiled by the Department of Labor, fell to 57.5 in June, this year, on the basis of 100 for 1926. The pay roll index fell to 39.3 from the same base. This means that most of the reduced purchasing power of labor is due to the loss of jobs, rather than to lower wages or part time work.

There is a difference of slightly more than 18 per cent between the decrease in employment and the decline in pay rolls. But the cost of living has declined more than 22 per cent below the level of 1926. In other words, the average workingman, even though he may have had his salary cut and may be working only part time, can purchase more with his wages today than he could in what is generally considered a normal year. So far as labor is concerned, the hardships of the depression have been almost entirely visited upon men without jobs.

It is of the utmost importance that this situation be corrected. There is no reason why part of the working population should be favored with greater actual returns for services while the other part has nothing. The five-day week provides a redistribution of work and of its rewards. General adoption of the sysetm in this period of emergency would not mean that henceforth men should not be allowed to work more than five days per week, but that the available work should be divided among willing and able men, regardless of whether it may be much or little.

This plan carries with it greater security for workingmen. Consequently, the tendency would be to eliminate fear of the future and to loosen curbed purchasing power. Practically all workers would be able to secure the necessities of life. If a system of flexible working hours is formulated at the proposed conference, it should be a notable contribution to economic recovery.

WAR DEBTS AND TARIFFS.

Considerable interest has been manifested in that part of Gov. Roosevelt's address last Saturday in which he advocated reduction of American tariff rates so that European nations could pay their war debts in goods. The problem thus raised has many ramifications that may lead into difficulties. It is of prime importance that a few basic facts be set down as a background against which public opinion may be formed.

In a normal year imports of merchandise into the United States are valued at more than $4,000,000,000. It is true that during 1931 the value of imports shrunk to $2,091,000,000, but this does not mean that the import business has been seriously interrupted. Much of the loss in the "value" of import trade is represented by a decline of 38 per cent in the prices of imported merchandise. A return to normal does not require lowering of the protective tariff, but only restoration of commodity prices and economic activity.

Imports from Europe to the United States in a normal year amount to about $1,250,000,000. The annual payments on the war debts total about $250,000,000. In other words, Europe sells to America five times as much as she pays on the war debts in a normal year.

Another statistical approach to the problem is worthy of note. In a normal year American factories create goods valued at about $75,000,000,000. Agricultural crops are valued at $12,000,000,000, mineral products at about $6,000,000,000. Many industries in each of these three divisions are entirely dependent upon the protective tariff for their existence. Would there be justification for impairing the economic structure which produces such enormous amounts of wealth each year to make the collection of $250,000,000 easier?

Much of the competition which American workingmen have to meet at present comes from the Orient. Japan is industrialized and has become a formidable competitor in many industrial lines. Before the World War only about 15 per cent of American imports came from Asia. Now nearly 28 per cent of those imports are direct from the Orient. Labor is much cheaper in Japan than it is in Europe. Consequently, if the tariff were lowered with a view to allowing European debtor nations to pay their debts, much of the increased foreign trade would go to Japan. It is a well-known fact in industrial circles that most of the high rates in the American tariff are levied against cheap Oriental goods.

When Gov. Roosevelt undertakes to discuss this subject in detail he will be expected to deal with these facts.

No doubt Gov. Roosevelt will be on guard also against the accusation that he would destroy the American standard of living and augment unemployment to relieve the relatively small number of people who pay Federal taxes. He can not expect the public to approve a policy that would involve the destruction of some American industries to enable foreign countries to pay their obligations.

BETTER WHEAT OUTLOOK.

To the upturn in the price of wheat must now be added improved prospects for export of the large surplus that will be held in the United States and Canada this year. Taking the preliminary crop estimates as of July 1, the total North American supply of wheat will amount to 1,674,000,000 bushels, about the same total as for the two previous years. This mountain of wheat is divided as follows: New crop of the United States 737,000,000 bushels, carryover 387,000,000 bushels, total 1,124,000,000 bushels; new crop of Canada 450,000,000 bushels, carryover 100,000,000 bushels, total 550,000,000 bushels.

Estimating the domestic requirements of the United States at 700,000,000 bushels and of Canada at 110,000,000 bushels, the Wall Street Journal adds 125,000,000 bushels as a "safe" carryover for this country, and 25,000,000 for the Dominion, which would leave a surplus available for export of 714,000,000 bushels. The demand abroad appears certain to be much larger than last year. Russia has no surplus this season and both Australia and Argentina will have comparatively little wheat available for export until the beginning of 1933.

In Europe the wheat for export is materially reduced this year. The Danubian supply that last year was 60,000,000 bushels, will be about one-fourth that amount. Italy will more than double her imports. India and China will harvest short crops of wheat and rice, which will make them importers. The foreign demand upon North American wheat may reach a total of 500,000,000 bushels, of which Canada will probably supply two-thirds.

If these estimates are realized the formidable surplus will be materially reduced and greatly add to the prospects for a substantial increase in price before the end of the year. The situation holds cheer for the farmer, not alone in the improved price and prospects for wheat, but other grain and live stock quotations are gaining in connection with a general advancement of business conditions throughout the nation. It is encouraging to see farm products in the van of the procession that appears to have definitely started on a return to better times.

The incomprehensible thing about the Borah plan for settlement of all world problems in a single confab is that the Idahoan did not include recognition of Soviet Russia and universal adoption of the export debenture plan for the farmer in his agenda.

Looks as if the biggest problem confronting the Democrats now is how to halt returning prosperity.

Mayor Eddie McCloskey wanted another Youngstown flood, and he got it.

WOMEN ATHLETES

From the Boston Transcript.

No doubt about it, the feminine side of the Olympic track and field competition adds a touch to this great international spectacle that was lacking until the bars were let down at Amsterdam four years ago. Seventeen countries are sending women athletes to compete in track and field, swimming, fencing and gymnastics at Los Angeles, and thousands will wonder before the games have finished why these modern Amazons have been classified as the weaker sex.

China, Turkey and India still cloister their womenfolk, but there is a sprinkling of entrants from European countries, and Japan has marshaled a formidable array for the feminine activities. The United States has lagged in its development of women's sports, aside from swimming, but the rise of such a superstar as Mildred Didrikson, of Dallas, Tex., promises to make up for lost time. Miss Didrikson, who prefers to be called "Babe," has qualified to compete in three track and field events—the 80-meter hurdles, javelin and discus throws. She may eclipse all other Olympic competitors in carrying away three gold medals against competitors who are capable of improving present world standards. There is a possibility that the Texas tomboy will also be chosen to run on the American relay team.

Observers at Amsterdam for the ninth Olympic meet were forcibly struck by the grace and poise of a Polish girl who won the discus; they were thrilled at the triumph of a Chicago lassie in the 100-meter dash; they were dumfounded by the beauty of the Canadian who captured high-jumping honors, and they were puzzled at the reaction of the 800-meter competitors, who toppled over like ninepins after crossing the finish line. The elimination of the 800-meter race meets with approval; the revamped program promises to leave a more pleasant taste.

And yet there is a physical side to the women's track and field competition at Los Angeles which arouses serious doubt as to the wisdom of their participation. Olympic rules are strict, and no alternates are allowed. Thus the three girls chosen in the various events can not be expected to step aside, even though the rules of health and common sense should dictate their withdrawal. Regardless of the physical side, however, it is quite clear that women's athletics have come to stay, even though some of us would have it otherwise.

POST HASTE.

With the bonus army treading on the toes of Ritchie and Pinchot the viewpoint of two critical governors is quite different.

Scattered to their various homes there is opportunity for the bonus veterans to be reabsorbed in reviving industry; in a concentration camp they must continue to remain objects of charity.

It is reassuring to consider that current threats to American trade at Ottawa and Paris can, at most, affect only about 2 per cent of the Nation's business.

Senator Swanson and Miss Woolley, returning from Geneva, dropped off at Paris to divulge to Premier Herriot that if he wants the U. S. to consider revision of war debts he must first reduce armaments—a secret France has only heard seventeen times in the last few months.

Bolivia is gradually making it clearer that the necessity for avenging her injured pride in the Gran Chaco dispute is augmented by the desire for an outlet to the Atlantic via the Paraguay River.

What do you think? The Farm Board is threatened with a $6,000,000 profit on its Brazilian coffee deal.

The U. S. A. having been reduced to a net income of only $200,000,000 a day, it's no wonder some of us have to buy second-hand, or rather repossessed, cars.

There is no indication that the explosion which scattered diamonds and jewelry over New York streets has anything to do with the governor's campaign to redistribute wealth.

If those who refer to the duration of the present depression as "unprecedented" would look up the records of '73 and '93 they would learn that present indications of recovery in this third year did not appear in those previous panics until the fifth year.

Don't be one of those to throw your new Bicentennial quarter away just to see if it will go farther than George's dollar.

QUESTION.

A tiny insect on the wall,
Doomed for a few brief hours to crawl,
Sensing the blow I meant to give,
Put up a valiant fight to live.
It scampered wildly to and fro
In self-protection, just as though
An insect plans a lifetime through
And has important work to do.

That creature black and very small,
Its home a crevice in the wall,
Born in a few brief hours to die
And scarcely to behold the sky;
Knowing not sun, nor moon, nor stars,
Nor cattle at the pasture bars,
Nor love, nor friends, and all they give,
Still strangely found it good to live.

Had it but chosen to remain
It could have died without a pain.
But no! In some strange way it felt
A crushing blow would there be dealt.
And finding life supremely good
It scampered off as fast it could
And with high courage chose to stay
To die an insect's natural way.

Thought I if bugs and beetles here,
Who dwell in such a narrow sphere
And hardly know the day from night
For life so valiantly can fight,
What is it moves a man, to whom
God gives the world with all its bloom,
Love, friendship and the things sublime,
To wish to die before his time?

Cobras Kill Thousands in India Because the Foolish People Won't Kill Cobras

By ROBERT QUILLEN

DURING the last year of the World War, a press correspondent in China cabled a brief story concerning an epidemic of "pneumonic plague" in one of the little-known inland cities.

The story seemed unimportant and was printed under modest headlines on an inside page. But a few editors with long memories realized its significance, and one of these was bold enough to predict that the epidemic would reap a greater harvest than the enemy's guns.

That "pneumonic plague" was the "flu."

America now witnesses the beginning of another plague, more dreadful than influenza, but again the significance of the menace is unrecognized because of great events that fill the public mind.

It will be easier to realize the menace of this new plague if you will imagine its beginning in your own community.

Suppose that a number of bandits enter a bank in your town and loot its vault. Their leader is unmasked and his face is one not easily forgotten. The president and cashier of the bank, men not easily fooled, observe him closely. If they live, they hope to identify him later.

Some time after the robbery the bandit leader is picked up as a suspect. He has a criminal record. The two bankers recognize him and he is held for trial.

The other members of the bandit gang are still at large, unknown and unsuspected. From these the two bankers begin to receive threatening letters.

To escape machine guns and bombs, they move with their families to a downtown hotel where they are constantly guarded by police. The hotel is a prison which they dare not leave. Their business suffers.

Eventually they ask the authorities to drop the case. The bandit leader is set free. The law turns loose a criminal rather than require two innocent men to commit suicide by testifying against him.

Suppose this should happen in your town as it happened in one of our great cities. Suppose you were one of the bandits' victims. Would you testify and invite death? Would you risk the lives of your loved ones to punish a bandit who took your money?

Criminals have learned their power. They know all witnesses can be terrified if a few who disregard threats are killed. With every success they grow bolder.

That is the plague that threatens. Nothing less than martial law can overcome it if it isn't stamped out before it spreads.

You can't stop an epidemic by feeling indifferent until it reaches your family.

The position of Congress is that beer will do all right for the platform, but not for serious consideration.

Fixing the Blame.

Champaign (Ill.) News-Gazette.

No doubt the trouble was caused by the radicals. Any one who would attack a policeman in the line of his duty is a radical. But we must go back of the incident of Thursday to fix the blame. We must go back to those who brought about such a situation. The blame must rest on those who originated the march on Washington and those who encouraged the marchers. Thinking people of the country knew at the outset that the soldiers would not be paid their bonus at this time. They knew that the Federal Treasury could not stand such a drain at this time. They knew that the soldiers had been promised their bonus in due time, and that the Federal budget provides for its payment, when it is due. Regardless of all this, such men as Patman, of Texas, ranted in Congress that the bonus should be paid now. A bill was introduced calling for immediate payment, despite the fact that every indication pointed to the fact that it could not become a law. The Texan and his ilk held out false hopes to the veterans.

For Their Scalps.

(Boston Herald.)

Many congressmen, by the way, would be more eager to go before the people this year, if they were a little surer that the people weren't going after them.

The "Other" Parties.

Kansas City Star.

There are prospects of about a dozen presidential tickets for the coming campaign. There may be a fusion or two, which would reduce the number slightly. A period of depression is calculated to give birth to new political movements. There always are "leaders" who have new and better ways than working through the old parties, to "save the country."

Perhaps this is just as well. Radicalism or even sentimentalism in politics must have expression. If they are not expressed in separate movements, they are apt to affect the major parties unfavorably. So long as they choose to work among and for themselves, and especially when they are divided among many movements or parties, they are not dangerous.

No Intimidation.

Urbana (Ill.) Courier.

When it comes to denying the power of the Federal Government there is only one course which a President may take. He must make the Government supreme at any cost. Calvin Coolidge, confronted with a challenge to the power of the State of Massachusetts, upheld the authority of that Commonwealth, and thereby made himself eligible for the Presidency. If he had failed at Boston he would never have been called to Washington.

If the bonus people want to take their matter to the polls well and good. On the issue of Federal supremacy over any group of its citizens there will be but one answer.

The Government will take orders from no one; it will not be intimidated; it will not tolerate rebellion.

Parable of the Noble-Hearted Lightning Rod Man Applied to a Certain Problem.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In a storm-infested portion of the country lightning was destroying many homes and taking many lives. One noble-hearted, public-spirited man canvassed the region and tried to persuade the people to install lightning rods. His work was progressing fairly well when he conceived the brilliant scheme of getting a syndicate together and building a factory to make lightning rods to sell to the people. Sales went low for a while, and people began to think his scheme a failure. So he dropped his canvassing work and commenced collecting statistics and making speeches to prove that the factory was not a failure. Due to his neglect the factory did fail, the people lost interest in lightning rods and bolts from the sky continued to do away with life and property. He died a broken-hearted failure.

Some years ago a group of public-spirited citizens banded together and tried to chase the "demon rum" from the country. Their work was progressing fairly well when they conceived the brilliant scheme of getting the States together and passing a law to prohibit liquor to the people. The law didn't work so well, and people began to think the scheme a failure. So the noble-hearted band dropped the work they were doing and started collecting statistics and making speeches to prove that the law is not a failure. Due to neglect the scheme is failing and—you finish it.

Says Mr. Borah Does Not Understand Practical Economic Laws or Human Nature — Cancellation Means a Heavier Tax Burden.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: That strong, garrulous man from the West, Senator Borah, has made many impractical proposals to end the economic chaos, but his latest plan to have America cancel the debts owed us by Europe has all his other plans beaten a mile. He seems to believe that Europe would be so gratified by our generous act in canceling the debts that she would close down her industrial plants and cease producing wheat and other agricultural products in order to be better able to purchase from America.

Mr. Borah forgets that cancellation would mean a heavier tax burden on the American people. Yet, European nations would be able to lower taxes, build bigger and better armaments, and would also form great industrial combines against us in order to capture our South American and Asiatic trade. The trouble with all great theorists like Mr. Borah is that they do not understand practical economic laws or human nature. They seem to live in a different world.

Weatherwise Herb Browne Says Progress Is Being Made in Long-Range Weather Forecasting.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The announcement on the editorial page of The Post July 30 that the Prussian Ministry of Agriculture is now sustaining officially the long distance weather forecasting of Dr. Franz Baur, of the University of Frankfurt, is gratifying to his supporters in the United States, engaged in the same line of scientific work. Personally I have been watching the development of his field with interest for several years.

Dr. Baur's work, now to receive official financial support, will be entirely separate from the German meteorological service of the Deutsche Seewarte at Hamburg, and, as in several other countries, will gain advantage in freedom from the cramping control of unprogressive orthodox meteorology.

Slowly but surely long range weather forecasting is breaking away from official control where it is unable to secure that control. Progress in that direction is being made even in the United States, the most backward of the leading nations in the recognition of its scientific standing.

Thinks Germany Should Be Forced to Pay for War as a Lesson in Peace.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: One good reason, it seems to me, for not relieving Germany of paying her war debts, is, that it may teach her a much-needed lesson. If the present and next generation of Germans are burdened with some debt, they may get the idea drilled into them that the high-handed sport of destroying other peoples along with their property is too costly a pastime to entertain. Paying war debts may help keep her sane.

Any nation that runs mad among her neighbors, as Germany did in 1914, should certainly never be allowed "to get away with it," without paying "to the uttermost farthing."

The whole upset world is paying for it now, and will be for some years to come.

To settle troubles by war is like eating when sick—it adds indigestion to disease.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I honored Grover Cleveland, beloved for the enemies he made, when he showed the assailants of orderly government that government must be maintained at any cost. For no one is for country who puts himself and his "rights" above the welfare of all. THEO. FIGGE.

HITLER OPENS DRIVE FOR REICH CONTROL

Negotiations for Coalition to Precede More Drastic Moves for Power.

Berlin, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—Adolph Hitler's Fascist party began its drive for power in the Reich's government tonight—a drive which may lead Hitlerites to collaborate with the powerful defense minister, Gen. Kurt Schleicher, in ruling Germany.

The Fascists' first move was through peaceful negotiations, but there was the constant threat of an ultimatum or harsher method.

At a "war council" of Fascist leaders at Munich, Hitler designated his chief of staff, Capt. Ernst Roehm, head of the brown shirt army of 400,000, to proceed to Berlin and confer with Gen. Schleicher, who is generally considered the strongest figure in Chancellor Franz von Papen's cabinet.

Ultimatum Urged.

Less powerful Fascist leaders urged Hitler to send an ultimatum to Col. von Papen demanding surrender of virtually all authority in the Reich, but Hitler was inclined first to tread the path of negotiation.

Capt. Roehm will demand:

1. Remodeling of the Reich's cabinet to include several Fascists in important governmental posts.

2. Replacement of the present dictatorship in Prussia by a regular cabinet under Fascist domination.

The plan would be contingent on an agreement by Dr. Heinrich Bruening's Catholic center party to "tolerate" a Fascist-Schleicher regime, providing the government continues to act with parliamentary authority.

Drastic Action Possible.

The attitude of the Catholic party is problematical, and it is quite possible more drastic action will be necessary to solve the present parliamentary crisis.

Obviously Gen. von Schleicher hopes to retain his key position and possibly he can maintain control of the chancellorship, defense and foreign ministries by satisfying the Fascist bid for power in Prussia. He also intends to keep control of the Prussian ministry of interior, which has command of 90,000 Prussian police—strongest force in the nation outside of the Army.

The next few days will be devoted to the negotiations, which will be a secret attempt by Hitler and Gen. von Schleicher to partition power.

Paintings Destroyed In Monastery Fire

Villanova, Pa., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Several valuable paintings were destroyed and thirteen firemen injured by a fire which burned through two floors of the Monastery at Villanova College.

The flames were brought under control after a two-hour fight in which priests, seminarians and students took part. Fire companies from Philadelphia and several suburban towns aided. The cause of the fire was unknown. The Monastery was built in 1900 at a cost of $200,000.

A SON FAR FROM HOME
"Through Chicago and Philadelphia to my mother and dad in Smithfield, Virginia, went the call. Out of 120,000,000 people in this country you reached out and tapped just the two I wanted and let me talk to them. Surely, I rubbed Aladdin's lamp."

AN OLD DOMINION BUSINESS FIRM
"In response to one of your advertisements I decided to telephone a customer in Durham, N. C. On this call costing 75c I secured an order amounting to $196."

A BALTIMORE FLORIST
"We always use the telephone to send orders for flowers to be delivered to people in Washington and Philadelphia. It is well worth the slight expense to talk to the florist at the other end personally and learn right away whether he can fill the order exactly as desired. We also deliver many flowers here on telephoned orders from other cities."

A MAN TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL
"Your service has been wonderful. I hardly know what I would have done without it when I was ill. I guess I would have died if it hadn't been for the telephone and reaching the doctor with it so quickly."

AN EXECUTIVE CONFINED TO HIS HOME
"For the last two days I have been confined to my home with a broken ankle. It has been necessary to use the telephone constantly each of the two days up to nine o'clock in the evening. It is impossible for you to give better service than I received."

AN ELECTRICIAN
"Jobs are usually started in a hurry and I am getting business by being on the telephone list of contractors I get work from. I found it quite necessary to have a telephone put in."

These letters tell of the wide use made of the telephone in business dealings, in social contacts and in emergencies.

You can have a telephone in your home for only a few cents a day. MEtropolitan 9900 will take your order

THE WHITE WINGS MONTHLY.

("Monthly magazine for municipal department workers is a help to morale, says civic leader advocating magazine of poetry, fiction and social news for city white wings."—News item.)

SONG OF THE WHITE WINGS.

I.

HAIL, the conquering hero comes!
(You hail him, boy; he leaves me numb);
The mayor speaks, the bandsmen play,
The people cheer along the way—
Cooperation no folks shirk—
But I get all the dirty work.

II.

Three cheers for aviators bold!
(You cheer 'em, kid; they leave me cold);
The whistles toot, the sirens scream,
From office windows streamers stream;
The people shout, their spirits leaping—
But all I get is lots of sweeping!

• • • •

THE WHITE WING'S PRAYER.

Now I lay me down to sleep,
Free for a spell from streets to sweep;
If I should die before I wake
No broom or shovel will I take.

• • • •

YOUR ROADWAY AND MINE.

What white wing found a dime in the sweepings in front of the Caledonian Club recently, thereby causing a dismissal of the entire club personnel? . . . Tony ("Battery Park") Gazoolk and the taxicab driver who ran over his broom are telling it to a judge. . . . The rubbish can in front of the Main street theater and the one next door will merge soon.

• • • •

It's a lot of old newspapers over at Municipal Pier No. 16. . . . All the gossip about the street cleaning service can be dismissed as so much rubbish. . . . Peter Oscovicz has been transferred from his old beat and is now ankling up a new gutter. . . . One of the town's newer hot spots is the new incinerating plant. . . . The J. B. Obelnopps are anticipating a new rubbish cart. . . . What street flusher used the fire hose so carefully the other morning that he never splashed a single pedestrian?

GUNGA DIN.

I've never seen a purple scow—
I never hope to see one;
But this I'll tell you anyhow,
I'd rather see than be one.

DEPARTMENT NEWS.

WALDO SCHMALZ has been suspended for three months and fined $200. Schmalz, one of our oldest street cleaners, handled the fire hose during a street flushing the other morning and didn't souse one passing motorist. It was his second miss this year. One more offense and he will be dismissed.

• • • •

Solly ("Midtown Section") Stroffmaier has been fined three days' pay. He succeeded in removing all the ash cans from an apartment house alley last week without awakening anybody.

• • • •

Inspector Blotz is investigating a scandal in the upper West Side garbage removal system. It seems that on several occasions recently all the garbage was placed in the trucks and not strewn all over the street. This is something that will not be tolerated by department heads.

"Kid McCoy, old-time crafty boxer, has been given a job at the Ford plant. Probably to help in the development of a new shift.

Briton Wins Olympic 800 Meters in World Record Time

Hampson's Final Spurt Features Stirring Race; U. S. Wins Broad Jump

Gordon, Iowa Negro, Leaps 25 feet 3-4 Inches in Victory.

200-Meter Mark Is Broken 4 Times in Trial Heats.

world record of 1:50.6 set by Sera Martin, of France, who was eighth today, but surpassed the unofficial record of 1:50 flat made by Ben Eastman, of Stanford, this year. The former Olympic record of 1:51.8, from which Hampson clipped two full seconds, was set in 1928 by Douglas Lowe, of England, who retired soon afterward from competition. Hampson also plans to quit the track after the present Olympics.

The American trio, Eddie Genung, Ned Turner and Charles Hornbostel, finished fourth, fifth and sixth, to help boost the American point total further out of sight, but they were never very much in the running. Genung ran second most of the way, but had nothing to match the dazzling final drive of Hampson and Wilson.

Women Break Two Records.

Meanwhile the feminine contingent, which has maintained an unbroken record-breaking pace, surpassed two more world records, and George Saling, Iowa hurdler, equaled the world's record by racing over the 110-meter high sticks in 14.4 seconds in the semifinals.

Altogether, after three days of astonishing competition, new Olympic records have been set in no less than eleven of the fifteen track and field events for men and women.

The feminine stars have shattered three world records, while the men have broken one and equaled three other world marks. The only events so far in which no records have fallen are the hammer throw, broad jump and high jump.

Women's Discus Mark Twice Bettered.

The women's world record in the discus throw twice was surpassed before Lillian Copeland, American girl from Los Angeles got off the decisive throw of 133 feet 2 inches. This enabled her to beat Ruth Osborn, of Shelbyville, Mo., who had previously set a record of 131 feet 8 inches.

Stella Walsh, the Polish girl who lives in Cleveland, touched world record time for the third time in two days when she won the women's 100-meter in 11.9 seconds.

The prospect of a 1-2-3 finish for America in the high hurdles loomed after today's trials. After Jack Keller, of Ohio State, had skimmed the 110-meter barriers in 14.5 seconds for a new Olympic record, Saling came right back, in the second semifinal, to nose out his team mate, Percy Beard, in 14.4, taking another slice off the Olympic mark besides touching the world record held jointly by two Scandinavians, Wennstrom, of Sweden, and Sjostedt, of Finland.

Sjostedt was eliminated in the semifinals, finishing fifth in the race won by Keller.

Gordon Wins Third Event For U. S. A.

The U. S. A. won its third men's championship when Edward Gordon, Iowa Negro, came through with the best leap in the broad jump, 25 feet ¾ inch, with his team mate, Lambert Redd, second, and Dick Barber, Southern California, fifth.

The big surprise was the defeat of the two men who have held world records and cleared 26 feet. The present world record holder, Chuhei Nambu, of Japan, was third. Sylvio Cator, of Haiti, did not qualify among the six finalists.

The trials in the 200-meter dash were just a breeze, in the first round, for the American trio, including Eddie Tolan, new 100-meter champion; Ralph Metcalfe and George Simpson. Most of the entries, apparently seeing the handwriting on the wall, withdrew.

They included Percy Williams, of Canada, 1928 champion. Williams pulled a muscle in the 100-meter semifinal in which he was eliminated yesterday.

Bartush Bows On Mat at Bolling

Washburn Replaces Sonnenberg; Wins 2 of 3 Falls.

Kirchmeier Winner in One Bout; Draws in Another.

WHILE the advertised attraction, "Dynamite Gus" Sonnenberg, former world's wrestling champion lanquished in Lawrence, Mass., where he was convicted for his part in a fatal automobile accident, last night's mat card at Bolling Field went forward with pugnacious Jack Washburn performing as a substitute. Washburn defeated Billy Bartush, two out of three falls.

The show, held inside the airfield gymnasium because of lowering skies, drew about 1,000 fans. Washburn won the first fall in 18 minutes with a series of thor hammers, body punches and plain uppercuts, followed by a body slam. Bartush took the second with a couple of flying tackles, but Washburn won the "rubber," aided by a Japanese neck lock and a body press, administered after Bartush had missed a flying tackle.

Roland Kirshmeier, giant newcomer to the wrestling fold, looked impressive in his first District appearance, downing Vanka Zelesniak in 25 minutes and then rassling a 30-minute draw with Frank Speer, after Sam Cordovana, who was supposed to meet Speer, failed to show up.

Glenn Munn, big little brother of the Munns of boxing and rassling fame, tossed bald Alex Aberg in 14 minutes by using one of Fred Grobmeier's patented figure four scissors. Aberg, who is as bald as a new nickel, gave up when Munn applied pressure.

The Masked Marvel, who seems to be more masked than marvellous, won another match, this time beating a good wrestler in Mike Orgavany, Hungarian, pummelling the lighter man about the body before tossing him in 11 minutes.

Sonnenberg Convicted Of Driving While Drunk

Lawrence, Mass., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Gus Sonnenberg, former claimant to the world's heavyweight wrestling title, was found guilty today of driving while under the influence of liquor and driving to endanger. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 on the first charge and to serve three months in the House of Correction on the other. He appealed and was held in $600 bail.

Mayo, U. S., Is Second In Equestrian Event

Los Angeles, Aug. 2 (U.P.).—The equestrian competition in the Olympics modern pentathlon, which drew together 25 of the world's finest horsemen, was won today by Sigfrid Gabriel Lindman, of Sweden, who covered the 4,883 meter course in 8 minutes 7 2-5 seconds.

Less than three seconds behind came Richard W. Mayo, of the United States, whose time was 8:10 1-5. Vernon William Barlow, Great Britain, was third in 8:41.

Birkie Stays Limit With Primo Carnera

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Primo Carnera, huge Italian heavyweight, outpointed Hans Birkie, coureagous battler from California, in a 10-round bout at the Queensboro Stadium tonight. Carnera weighed 264½ pounds; Birkie, 202.

Carnera gained the decision, his third in succession in his latest invasion of the United States, through a powerful rally in the last half of the fight. He made good use of his 62-pound pull in the weights to wear the aggressive Birkie down and then won the last four rounds.

Birkie bored in steadily during the early rounds, attacking Carnera about the body. He scored heavily in the fifth with a crashing left to the chin followed by a stiff right to the midsection and had the better of the next round but weakened rapidly toward the finish.

Shires 'Fired' by Braves After He Balks at Release

ART SHIRES

Friction Between First Baseman and Manager McKechnie Reported; Player Is Doomed to Minors Again.

BOSTON, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—With an unconditional release hanging over his head, Art (What-a-Man) Shires today appeared doomed to some more minor league experience.

The Boston Braves' colorful first baseman, who was benched last Sunday, was fired by Manager Bill McKechnie today when he objected to the pilot's disposal plans. The manager intended to use Shires in a trade with an unnamed minor league club and the "Great One" voiced strenuous protests.

McKechnie notified President Emil Fuchs, on the road seeking another first baseman, of his action and was advised to hold off until Fuchs returns tomorrow.

Shires has been handicapped by an injured left knee most of the season. He was badly spiked by Joe Stripp in a game with Brooklyn and, despite the injury, insisted on playing. He was later forced to retire from the line-up and since his return he has failed to measure up to the major league standard.

Shires was purchased from Milwaukee where he had a sensational season, batting for .385. Before entering the American Association he played with the Chicago White Sox and Washington.

Reports of friction between Shires and the Braves' management, always denied, have been circulating here for several weeks. It was no secret the club was in the market for another first baseman and that Shires would be replaced as soon as a satisfactory replacement was obtained. The Braves' versatile utility man, Randy Moore, is now holding down the position.

RING VERDICT AWARDED TO TRAMBERIA

Antonelli Outpointed in Feature at Alexandria.

THOUGH guilty of throwing at least four low blows, Jimmy Tramberia, Baltimore featherweight, won an eight-round decision over Nick Antonelli, Mohawk Club star, in the feature bout of a benefit boxing show staged for the Alexandria American Legion last night in Portner Arena. Less than 500 witnessed the action.

Tramberia, hitting much harder and often pumping home solid left hooks to the body, marred his performance by striking Antonelli below the belt in the third, sixth and eighth rounds. In the opinion of Referee Charlie Short, the outlaw punches should have at least evened the score for Antonelli, but Judges Ed Thomas and Jimmy Gallagher cast their votes for the swarthy Baltimorean.

Thus Tramberia reversed a decision which the Southeast Italian gained last November. He was too strong, too smart and too fast for Nick last night. Antonelli stung him a couple of times, but he escaped being knocked out by rolling and dodging until his head cleared.

The veteran, Joe Chaney, of Baltimore, decisively defeated Don Whitlock, clown welterweight, from Florida, in the six-round semifinal. A steady flow of left hooks and right crosses from Chaney's educated fists easily offset the mauling, outlandish tactics of his opponent.

In four-round battles, Doug Swetman, local featherweight, decisioned Bob Portna, Bolling Field; Benny Toothman, recent addition to Washington's fight colony, outpointed Roma Labona, Mohawk Club welterweight, and Sammy Hogan, Washington lightweight, drew with Young Raspi, Baltimore.

PHILS SWEEP PITTSBURGH SERIES

Hand Pirates Fourth Defeat in Row, 11-6, Amid 7 Homers.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug 2 (A.P.).—In a battle of booming distance drives, the Phillies defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 11 to 6, and made a clean sweep of the four game series over the league leaders.

Seven home runs featured the heavy hitting, four going to the Phillies and three to the Pirates.

Chuck Klein cracked out his 31st of the year. Hal Lee and Les Mallon hit for the circuit and finally Cliff Heathcote, substituting for the injured Don Hurst, clinched the game by clouting a healthy four-base drive over the right field wall in the eighth inning.

Comorosky hammered two of the Pirates' homers, and Paul Waner delivered the other.

By stretching their winning streak to five straight games, the Phils cut the Pittsburgh lead over them to six games with the Chicago Cubs intervening.

3 Errors Aid Nats to Beat Chicago

Chamberlain, Rookie, Bows to Crowder in 4-1 Duel.

Holds Nats to 5 Hits; Cronin Drives in Opening Run.

Special to The Washington Post.

COMISKEY PARK, Chicago, Aug. 2.—Bill Chamberlain, a young southpaw making his major league debut, did his best to make it a success here today, holding the Nationals to but four hits in eight innings, but three errors by his mates popped up in the clinches and, as a result, the Washington Team made it two out of three for the series by copping, 4 to 1. "General" Al Crowder went the route for the visitors and his six-hit performance netted him his twelfth triumph of the season. A ladies' day crowd of about 10,000 saw the game.

Chicago errors figured in three of the four runs coined by the Nats, the only untainted one being that scored in the third. In the first, Grube dropped a throw to let Manush reacn the plate safely; in the seventh, a fumble by Hayes gave Crowder life and let Kingdon advance to third so that he could register on a long fly, while in the seventh it was a "butterfinger" stunt by Luke Appling which ultimately resulted in a marker.

Crowder Given Good Support.

And, while the Sox were helping the Nats as much as possible afield, the latter were giving Crowder airtight and, at times, brilliant support. The visitors were the first to score, breaking the ice in the first. Then the Sox knotted the string by packing half of the blows credited them during the game in the second canto. The third saw the visitors take the lead again and Crowder saw to it that no more liberties were taken with his offerings. Additional Washington runs were added in the seventh and eighth, but these were not needed, except to make the Nats feel a little more comfortable.

Kuhel, with two hits, led the Washington attack, with Fat Fothergill starring for the home crew. Not only was he credited with a double and a single, but he also made the best catch of the game, robbing West of what appeared to be a sure extra-baser, but racing back and making a brilliant one-hand grab of a liner back near the stands in left.

Two were out when the Nats molded their first marker. Then Manush singled to left-center and was safe at home on Cronin's double to left when Catcher Grube dropped Selph's relay throw to the plate.

Sox Give Nats Scare In Second.

In the second, the Sox started like they meant trouble for Crowder. Fothergill doubled off the scoreboard in left center, took third on Appling's useful out, and scored on Kress' single. The latter rounded second too far on Blue's one-baser to right and was trapped on Harris' return throw. Crowder then put on the brakes and was never in serious trouble thereafter, holding the home team to but three scattered hits.

Meanwhile, with the help of the Sox, the Nats scored three more times. They broke the deadlock in the third, molding a marker from Kuhel's single, a walk to Myer, Manush's sacrifice, and Cronin's useful out. An opening pass to Kingdon, Berg's sacrifice, Hayes' fumble of Crowder's roller, and Kuhel's long fly netted another in the seventh, while the run scored in the eighth resulted from Appling's miscue on Cronin's roller, a pass to Harris, and Cronin's one-baser.

The Nationals left for Detroit tonight, where they open a four-game series starting tomorrow with Bucky Harris' Tigers. Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas will do the flinging for the Washingtonians.

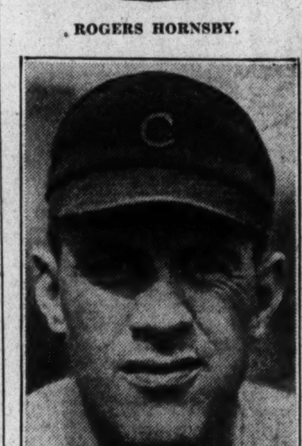
Grimm Named Successor As Pilot of Chicago Club; Internal Strife Reported

ROGERS HORNSBY.



CHARLEY GRIMM.

Hornsby Leadership Disappointing to Club Official.

To Be Paid $40,000 Salary in Full for 1932 Season.

CHICAGO, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Chicago Cubs since the tag-end of the 1930 season, was dismissed tonight.

Charley Grimm, first baseman, team captain and a member of the club since 1925, was immediately appointed to take over the leadership of the team.

This amazing move was announced tonight in New York by William L. Veeck, president of the club. He called the players together in making announcement of the change. President Veeck's only explanation was that the Cubs, under Hornsby's leadership, were not as high in the pennant race as Veeck thought they should be with the available talent.

Internal Strife Reported.

From other sources, it was reported, that internal strife was responsible for the removal of Hornsby, who had boosted his team to second place in the National League race, and who had had the Cubs out in front several times this season.

Although neither Hornsby nor Veeck, according to the special dispatches to the Chicago Tribune, had intimated that there was to be an immediate switch in the management of the team, the dispatches said that it had been apparent for several days that coolness had existed between them. President Veeck joined the club in Boston on its present Eastern trip, but he attended the games alone and also dined alone in the hotel.

Hornsby will be released also as a player, but his salary, reported to be $40,000 annually, will be paid up to December 31, 1932. Hornsby, according to the special dispatches, planned to leave for Chicago tonight, and thence for his home in Missouri.

Sold to Cubs in $20,000 Deal.

Hornsby, once manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, then became a member of the New York Giants, and later went to Boston. He came to the Cubs in the fall of 1928, in a deal involving $200,000 and five players.

He was voted the most valuable player in the National League in 1929. In 1920 he began a long batting streak which carried him to the top of the National League batting list for six years in succession. Three times he batted over .400 for a season, and in 1924 established the league record for batting with an average of .424, which never has been equaled.

Hornsby, according to reports, told newspaper friends several weeks ago that he felt that he ought to be back in the Cub line-up, but that President Veeck was opposed to this move.

Hornsby said he had been released "because he and President Veeck thought the best interests of the club would be served by my retirement."

"Mr. Veeck decided that he wanted to make the move, and it's perfectly all right with me," Hornsby added.

Hornsby said he would be in Philadelphia until late tomorrow afternoon when he "might go to Chicago."

Pressed for further details of the shakeup, Veeck said:

"We just felt that we weren't getting the best possible results from the club."

Browns Bunch Hits To Beat Red Sox, 6-4

St. Louis, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns made it three in a row from the Boston Red Sox by capturing the fourth and final game of the series today, 6 to 4.

The Browns bunched five of their ten hits off two Red Sox hurlers in the second, making four runs and knocking Weiland out of the box. Bob Durham, relieving Weiland, held St. Louis scoreless, while allowing only two hits until the seventh, when he went out for a pinch hitter. The Browns made two runs in the eighth off Boerner, third Boston pitcher.

George Blaeholder went the route for the Browns, blanking the Red Sox six innings, allowing one run in the seventh, holding in the eighth and then weakening in the final frame, when Boston scored three runs on a walk, a single, Jolley's triple and an outfield out.

MY DANDY LEADS ALL THE WAY IN HAWTHORNE FEATURE

Heavy Going Just Suits Choice

Annimessic Second and Kibitzer in Third Hole.

Latter Quits After Challenge Fails at Half.

HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, Ill., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—My Dandy, the old one-eyed star of the Reichert Brothers Stable, liked the heavy going at Hawthorne today and captured the top race by a margin of five lengths over Annimessic.

Jockey L. Leyland hustled My Dandy to the front in the first few strides and kept him there to the finish of the mile and a sixteenth race. Kibitzer, with L. Humphries up, challenged at the half-mile mark, but Leyland let My Dandy out a little and easily drew away. Wayne Wright, on Annimessic, went after the leader when Kibitzer gave up, but My Dandy was much too good and easily maintained his margin.

Kibitzer saved third money. My Dandy raced the distance in 1:45 4-5, and, as the favorite, paid $3.94 for each $2 straight ticket.

Dark Magne Wins Spa Jump Feature.

Saratoga Race Track, Saratoga, N. Y., Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Cross country performers attracted most of the attention at the upstate course this afternoon, with the twenty-ninth running of the Shillelah Steeplechase, at about two miles, topping a nicely-balanced card. Dark Magne, a 5-year-old representing Stephen Sanford, ran the best race of his career to score easily in new track record time of 4:11 4-5, one-fifth of a second faster than the previous mark created by E. Kantara in 1924.

Under the comparitively light burden of 132 pounds, Dark Magne led home James Simpson, jr.'s Cahanemore, a 20 to 1 hazard, by three lengths. E. R. Bradley's Barometer was third, fifteen lengths behind.

Mt. Rainiers to Meet Hyattsville on Sunday

Hyattsville All Stars and Mount Rainier, old-time rivals, are preparing for the third game of their three out of five series Sunday afternoon on the Mount Rainier diamond. Play will start at 3 o'clock. As in former years, games between these teams has aroused much interest and a large crowd is sure to be on hand.

The series now is all-even, each team having won a game. The outcome of the set will go far toward deciding the unlimited champion of Prince Georges County. Both teams have done well to date.

Lefty Poole is slated to pitch for Hyattsville, while Bill Hoffman probably will be on the firing line for the Mounts.

AT THE POST
with Bill Bennings

DEAR AL: HAWTHORNE RACE TRACK, CHICAGO, AUG. 2.

They scattered the muck all this long afternoon. The best race of the day was declared off on account of track conditions. My Dandy and Wee Drop were our choices to enter the charmed circle.

There is little class to tomorrow's card. The clouds were hanging low tonight and, unless the sun and harrows get busy very early, the track is sure to be heavy. EVERGOLD may surprise in the feature race and at a big price.

ALGERIA, winner of his last race at Arlington, was shipped to Saratoga for a killing. La Varne Fator will have him away on his toes in the first heat tomorrow and a straight and place bet may be worth while.

From the way some of the horses are performing at Hawthorne, some of that gas distributed on Pennsylvania avenue must have drifted out this way. Don't get too deep in Wednesday's card without donning your mask. Yours, BILL.

FIRST RACE—There are enough "Maidens" out here to furnish mounts for all the B. E. F. As usual he card opens with a scramble for 2-year-olds, none of whom have a right to win a race. RED VAMP, FAN FERN and MONK'S BELA have shown flashes of form.

SECOND RACE—HIGH STORM, GALAHAD and BATTLE AXE all love the mud and may finish in the money in order named.

THIRD RACE—HOPE TO DO, with early speed, may get home. MR. JOE is consistent and should get the place, while MELOY figures a money chance.

FOURTH RACE—INHERITOR has some good races in the mud. WAR TIME, too, has plenty of speed and there was a time when DR. PARRISH could have stood them all on their heads. Tab the ring action.

FIFTH RACE—If EVERGOLD gets away winging he will be hard to catch. PITTSBURGHER, a stake horse, will be favorite, and may win. He and SPANISH PLAY are both superior mudders.

SIXTH RACE—Unless you have money to burn it might be a good idea to suspend operations just here until Thursday. LAZY MARY, DAD MINERS and IMELDA are as good as any.

SEVENTH RACE—WISE LEE loves a soft track and has only to repeat his recent effort to grab this purse. PRETTY POSE and WHITE LEGS have outside chances.

EIGHTH RACE—GAY PARTY is my special for the day. Only needs a ride. PRINCE VOLTA and HOOSIER PRINCE for what's left.

Banovic to Fight At Laurel Monday

Meets De Capua in Feature Ten-Rounder on Twin City Card.

Joe Banovic, slashing light-heavyweight, who fought Bob Godwin to a draw at Portner's Arena last winter in his last appearance in Washington, meets a durable and well-known foe at Laurel Monday night when he squares off against Jimmy De Capua, Daytona Beach, Fla., bruiser.

De Capua was the straw that broke Mike McTigue's figurative back several years ago when he godsped the retirement of the veteran Irishman by defeating him decisively. In the interim De Capua has trimmed Bob Godwin, "Reds" Barry, Tommy ("Kid") Herman, Willie Ptomey, John Rousseau and Tony Dominguez.

The bout is scheduled for ten rounds and will be supported by a capable group of preliminaries, according to word from the promoters.

Mangin Defeats Gledhill at Nets

East and South Place Four Each in Southampton Quarterfinals.

Southampton, N. Y., Aug. 2 (A.P.). The Meadow Club's forty-second annual invitation tennis tournament resolved itself into a battle of the East against the South as the quarterfinals were reached today.

Four native Easterners and as many sons of the South won their second round matches.

The feature match of the day saw Gregory S. Mangin, of Newark, conquer Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, Calif., in a spectacular battle, 1—6, 6—1, 9—7.

Cliff Sutter, of New Orleans; Sidney B. Wood and Berkeley Bell, of New York, were the seeded players who advanced. Sutter was pushed to win, 6—4, 7—5, from Lester Stoeffen. Wood was in superb form as he vanquished the veteran, Richard Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, 7—5, 6—2, while Bell won with ease from Edward Burns, jr., of New York, 6—1, 6—1.

Sutter, tomorrow will clash with Robert (Lefty) Bryan, of Chattanooga, victor today in a gruelling match with Dick Murphy, of Utica, N. Y., 8—10, 6—3, 9—7. Mangin's opponent will be Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., who was extended to three sets before downing Elbert Lewis, Los Angeles, 4—6, 6—4, 6—3.

Bryan Grant, jr., Atlanta "mite," eliminated John McDiarmid, Fort Worth, Tex., 7—5, 6—2 and opposes Wood tomorrow. Bell stacks up against David N. Jones, New York, who eliminated Clayton Lee Burwell, of Charlotte, N. C., 6—1, 6—1.

Treasury Netmen Win To Take League Lead

Treasury Department slipped into first place in the Departmental Tennis League yesterday, with a 5-0 win over Patent Office. The win gave Treasury a season's record of 22 wins and 7 losses, against Navy Department's 22 and 8.

Treasury appears to have the league won, for its lone remaining match is against Veterans, the cellar holders, while Navy's last match is against the strong Bureau of Investigation club.

Charest and Seidel defeated Goldsmith and Wallenstein, 6—2, 6—2; Phillips and Stam won by default from Tomeldon and Edwards; Clark and Polk defeated Stocklinski and Talburt, 6—4, 6—3; Purinton and May defeated Carney and Surle, 6—0, 6—1; Coe and Gardner defeated Parker and Moncure, 7—5, 3—6, 6—1.

Constructioneers Win; Triple Play Features

By defeating Terminal Y yesterday, 9 to 5, the Constructioneers yesterday won second-half honors in the Industrial League. A triple play by the losers featured the game. It came in the seventh inning with Constructioneer runners on first and third. As Coker fanned, the runner on first headed for second, but stopped and hustled back to first. Second-baseman Collier, who took Catcher Dofflemyer's throw, whipped the ball to third to trap the runner there between that base and home. Meanwhile, the runner on first headed for second and Third-baseman Freschi's peg caught him between bases and he was run down.

The Constructioneers, although outhit, 7 to 8, benefited from seven bases on balls. Booker hit a homer for them with one on.

Capital City League Midgets Meet Tonight

Final plans for the midget championship series of the Capital City League will be discussed tonight at a meeting between the managers of the Wonder Bread and National Pale Dry teams and the secretary of the loop to be held at 8 o'clock in the sports department of the Post. The opening game of the series will be played Sunday at 1 o'clock on the East Ellipse diamond.

Tomorrow night a meeting of the pilots of teams entered in the Insect division of the league will be held at 8 o'clock in the office of the Playground Department at the District Building. All are urged to attend as important business will be transacted.

Garibaldi, Brunowicz Promise Rough Bout

The sinew and suet stars of Joe Turner will gambol about Griffith Stadium tomorrow night in the weekly rassling bill, with Gino Garibaldi, tough Chicago Italian, once more holding down the featured spot. Garibaldi will meet Frank Brunowicz, also of Chicago, with whom he has committed many matches throughout the Middle West which are remembered for their roughness.

McMillen, still another Chicagoan, meets Lou Plummer in the semi-windup, which is a finish match. In the most interesting of the preliminaries Rudy Dusek tangles with Pat O'Shocker.

The rest of tomorrow night's bill matches up Herman Hickman against goofy Ghoofor Khan, upon whose longitudinal mustache the average citizen could chin the bar, and Barto Asserati against Nick Nestor, generally accepted as one of the worst wrestlers of all time.

WOMEN NET STARS ARE DEFEATED

Miss Reigal and Miss Pittenger Out of District Play.

MARRED by the default of two of the highly touted out-of-town stars, the annual women's District of Columbia women's tennis championship moved another step along yesterday at Columbia Country Club.

Louise Hofmeister, hard-hitting champion of Chicago, saw her first action, putting out Clara Tabler, one of the best of the local women players, in a well-played two-set match, 6—3, 6—2. Miss Tabler often matched the well-known Westerner stroke for stroke, but lacked the experience to prolong the winning of games.

Bobsy Totten, who gained the second round when Cecelia Reigal, twentieth ranking player of the United States, defaulted to her, moved still further into the meet by beating Goldie Crist, 7—5, 6—3, late in the showery afternoon. The same thing happened to Mrs. E. K. Morris, who gained a default over Laura Pittenger, former Atlantic Coast women's champion, and then won her second-round match.

Doubles commence today, with the teams of Hofmeister and Marion Butler and Mrs. Martinez and Frances Walker expected to reach the finals. Entries for the mixed doubles close tonight at 6 o'clock at Columbia Country Club.

Stocks Lose Battle to Rise, Yielding Nearly Two Points

Buyers Fail to Vanquish Profit Takers; Sales Drop in Volume.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Stocks backed up in more pronounced fashion today. Profit-taking met less resistance from new buying, although there was nothing to suggest that the decline represented more than the appearance of a technical setback after a fortnight of almost steady advance.

Shares moved fitfully in the morning, turned definitely heavy later and then, just before the close, braced enough to reduce extreme losses. The decline, which had concentrated in rails on Monday, was general, except that bullish professionals took the coppers for an upward excursion on reports that experiments with a higher domestic price might be undertaken soon. Volume tapered off sharply, dropping to 1,439,080 shares.

Leaders down about 2 points net included American Telephone, U. S. Steel preferred, Case, Consolidated Gas, Santa Fe, Union Pacific and American Tobacco "B." Steel common, Du Pont, Coca Cola, Sears Roebuck, Allied Chemical, New York Central, Public Service of New Jersey, Western Union, Air Reduction and American Can eased a point or thereabouts.

Comment on steel operations by American Metal Market noted "the remarkable change" in sentiment among buyers and sellers. August, it said, is expected to show slightly heavier output than July, but "very substantial improvements expected by the middle or end of September." Meanwhile there may have been a minor slackening in the ingot production ratio.

FOOD REMITTANCES TO RUSSIA IMPROVED

American Express Can Now Send Funds to Torgsin Company Direct.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

D. P. Aub, district manager of the American Express Co., with office at 1414 F street northwest, has announced an important step in the facilitation of remittances to Russia, through an agreement of that company just concluded with the Torgsin Co. and permitting an arrangement filling a great need among Americans desiring to assist relatives and friends residing in that country.

Torgsin is a company which has been organized by the Soviet government for the purpose of enabling persons in Russia to purchase food products and other merchandise at reasonable prices. It maintains stores in more than 100 cities in Russia and these establishments accept remittances from persons living in the United States and Canada, who desire to have friends or relatives supplied with food or other products instead of money.

Due to this arrangement, the American Express Co. can now handle such remittances directly with the Torgsin Co., instead of through the intermediary of foreign banks. The value of this is great to persons who, in the past, either had to purchase food certificate, ship goods or follow more or less complicated methods. The whole procedure has now been reduced to a simple banking transaction. A foreign money order for the amount desired in United States dollars, is issued, bearing the name of Torgsin and the city, together with the name and address of the beneficiaries.

To insure remittances being handled with the greatest dispatch, the American Express Co., at the time of transmitting the money to the Torgsin Co., will simultaneously send special advices to the beneficiaries by the fastest available steamers leaving New York. The presentation of this advice at the Torgsin store will facilitate receipt of the corresponding amount or value. An acknowledgment of receipt of the merchandise by the beneficiary will be procured for the sender, if requested.

Loss of Rail Buying Power Worries Great Industries

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—One phase of the railroad problem worries executives in major lines outside of railroading as much, if not more, than it does railroad executives. That is the drastic shrinkage of the carriers' purchasing power.

A remedial proposal which is receiving much attention in both governmental and financial quarters is the suggestion that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation loan the carriers money to renovate their equipment.

The importance of railroad purchasing power to certain industries is shown by the fact that the carriers' 1929 takings of iron and steel represented 17 per cent of the industry's output; they took 23 per cent of the bituminous coal produced, 4 per cent of the anthracite and 19.9 per cent of fuel oil output. Of forest products the railroad 1929 purchases represented 16 per cent of the total output.

BOND PRICES REACT, LED BY RAIL ISSUES

One-Tenth Point Loss Ends Long Uprising; Profit Taking Blamed.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Railroad loans jumped the track on the upgrade today and the bond market suffered a minor reaction, the first in more than a month.

While the carriers were under pressure of profit taking in the low-priced and speculative grades, the industrials just about held their own and the utilities were only fractionally lower. The trading volume declined with the bids, sales totaling only $10,276,000 par value, and the average for 60 composite bonds showed a loss of one-tenth of a point.

Losses of around a point or more were recorded by some bonds of Baltimore & Ohio, Chesapeake & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern, Rock Island, Erie, Great Northern, Louisville & Nashville, New York Central, New Haven, Nickel Plate, Pennsylvania, Pere Marquette, Southern and Wabash, but some issues of Atlantic Coast Line, Central of New Jersey, Delaware & Hudson, Illinois Central, Kansas City Southern, Northern Pacific and Southern Pacific improved.

Houston Oil 5½s gained 3½ points, while other petroleum loans were somewhat irregular.

CURB JOINS DECLINE IN LIGHTER TRADING

Utility Shares Bear Brunt of Selling; Copper Rises; Oils Yield.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—The curb market experienced a substantial setback today, the first important interruption of its advance in a fortnight.

Speculators for the rise were encouraged by the fact that there seemed to be nothing in the sell-off to indicate that it was of more than a technical nature. The turnover dwindled to 130,000 shares, off 40,000 from yesterday.

Utilities bore the brunt of the selling, apparently for no other reason than that they are the outstanding group.

Electric Bond & Share, American Gas & Electric, and Niagara Hudson all declined about a point. Northern States "A" lost 2. Commonwealth Edison closed unchanged, after a temporary advance of 1. The stock has been firm, with the $18,000,000 5½ per cent bond issue at hand. Duke Power rose 1¼ points in a small turnover.

In the coppers, Newmont shot up more than a point, to 12, then closed at 11. Oils yielded but slightly, save for Gulf, which got down a full point. Cities Service closed off ¼, at 3¾. Industrials were irregularly lower.

COTTON PRICES SAG WITH OTHER SALES

Decembers Close at 6.04 as Market Loses Heavily; Liverpool Hedges.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Liquidation and scattered selling inspired by the heavy tone of stock and wheat markets forced cotton about $1 a bale lower today, but the market recovered a small part of its extreme loss near the close.

December contracts after selling off to 5.98, or 20 points net lower, closed at 6.04, with the general market closing steady at net declines of 12 to 16 points.

Considerable selling here through houses with New Orleans connections was reported on the decline, which extended to 5.80 for October and 6.20 for March, or about 20 to 21 points below yesterday's finals. The decline seemed to attract further trade buying and closing prices were 8 to 9 points above the lowest.

Liverpool cables reported hedge selling in the market there and said business in cotton goods was quiet. Exports reported today and so far this season 4,132 bales.

Imports at Boston Set High Valuation Record

Boston, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Foreign imports of greater valuation than has been received at Boston for any previous week of the year, except one, were checked in here last week, Wilfred W. Lufkin, collector of the port, said today.

The goods totaled $1,766,000 in value and consisted largely of raw materials which will be put into process of manufacture at many factories. They included palm oil, rubber, cotton and shoe leather.

WHEAT VALUES SINK ON HARVEST REPORT

Corn and Oats Join Drop, Latter Selling at New Low Level.

Chicago, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Grain values toppled today, owing largely to unofficial estimates that North America would harvest only 8,000,000 bushels less wheat than last year. Heavy selling of wheat came from Eastern sources, and buying power was scanty.

Movement of new domestic spring wheat was reported increasing fast, and North American export business totaling 1,000,000 bushels failed to rally prices.

Wheat closed unstable at the day's low point, 1¾ to 2⅛ cents under yesterday's finish; corn ⅞ to 1⅜ down; oats, ¼ to ½ off, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents lower.

August private crop reports averaged 273,000,000 bushels, as the probable domestic spring wheat production this season, and estimated the domestic winter wheat yield at 440,000,000. Both of these totals were larger than traders expected, and bullish sentiment evaporated, with the market sinking about 4 cents from its recent top.

A corn crop of almost 3,000,000,000 bushels was indicated by private reports, the largest crop since 1923. Oats sold at a new low for the season.

Provisions inclined downward with cereals.

OTHER DELAYS SEEN IN AUSTRIA INTEREST

Defaults on $55,000,000 Loan Feared; Floated Two Years Ago.

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Future interest payments on the $55,000,000 Austrian government international loan dated 1930 were thrown in doubt today when it was announced recent monthly instalments had not yet been paid by the Austrian government.

This is the second Austrian loan whose status has become doubtful as a result of foreign exchange difficulties and restrictive measures taken with Austria to preserve its present meager cash and gold resources.

As in the case of the $125,000,000 Austrian guaranteed loan, for which a similar announcement was made last week, the break in continuity of monthly instalment payments does not imply a default on the next interest coupon, although funds are not now being received for application to that purpose.

The last interest coupon, due July 1, was paid on the loan. The break in instalments occurred after funds had been received by the trustee of the loan to take care of that interest disbursement. Instalments due on July 1 and August 1 were not forthcoming and it was stated there is no "assurance that similar deficiencies will not occur again."

3 Held for Jurors In Theft of Check

Washington Men Are Given Hearing in Fairfax; $2,000 Bonds Set.

Three Washington men who were taken into custody by Virginia police last week in connection with larceny of a $253 check from the store of James E. Nickell, of Fairfax, Va., yesterday were bound over to the September grand jury under $2,000 bonds, after a hearing before Paul E. Brown, of the Fairfax County trial justice board.

James Scott and F. K. Shulmire, both of Washington, were arrested last Tuesday when they attempted to cash the check in an Alexandria clothing store. They were charged with the theft of the check, and Scott was partially identified by Nickell as the man who visited his store selling calendars at the time the check was stolen.

Ross R. Rogers, of 723 Sixth street northwest, was later arrested on the same charge when Scott and Shulmire implicated him. Rogers told police he received the check from Nickell in payment of an order for 1,000 calendars.

Petrolle, Hurt, Cancels Bout With Canzoneri

New York, Aug. 2 (A.P.).—Billy Petrolle must wait again for a chance to win a title he long has sought, an injured elbow bringing indefinite postponement today of his fifteen-round lightweight championship fight with Tony Canzoneri next Monday at Madison Square Garden Bowl.

The game little Duluth fighter, always a challenger and never a champion, injured the elbow in the first of his brawls with Christopher (Bat) Battalino in Madison Square Garden in March. Yesterday he aggravated the injury in a training session and an X-ray showed a chipped bone.

Billy holds a ten-round decision over Tony, gained in Chicago in 1930 the summer before Canzoneri won the title by knocking out Al Singer in a round.

Black Yankees Play Pilot Nine Tonight

Just how effective blinding speed is under the arc lights as compared to daylight conditions will be ascertained at Griffith Stadium tonight when Washington's Pilots take issue with New York's Black Yankees at 8:30 o'clock.

The Black Yankees are prepared to start "Tex" Holland, steam-ball standout of colored baseball, in their nocturnal baseball bow locally. Dave Matlock, left handed dependable, may start for the Pilots.

NO-HIT, NO-RUN GAME,

Sisler, of the Sacred Heart Midgets, yesterday held the Red nine hitless as his mates garnered five runs behind him. He pitched brilliantly from start to finish, fanning 15 and walking but one. Every member of the winning team was credited with at least one hit.

BYRD ACT PAY SCALE AROUSES CHALLENGE

Hull Attacks Proponents' Claims After Message From Shirley.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

William C. Hull, chairman of the Arlington County Civic Federation committee in charge of the federation's campaign against the Byrd road plan, yesterday issued a challenge to proponents of the plan "to produce anything in writing over the signature of the chairman of the State Highway Commission to corroborate their claims that the State has announced its decision to pay the prevailing wage scale in the various counties for road work, or if such a decision has been reached, that it is in such definite terms as would preclude the State from reverting to its present rate of 15 cents an hour for common labor as soon as the election is over."

Hull's statement is based on an exchange of telegrams on the subject between the committee and State Highway Commissioner H. G. Shirley. The telegram to Shirley follows:

"Confining questions exclusively to secondary system, and bearing in mind Arlington County is in relatively high-wage area of National Capital, what positive assurance can you give that State as permanent policy will at all times pay rate of wage and observe number of hours per day prevailing locally."

Commissioner Shirley's reply was:

"Commission will not guarantee continuation of any policy, but try to conduct work to best interest of taxpayers."

Hull declared: "The failure of the proponents of the plan to make any definite quotation from the announcement said to have been made by the State highway commission prompted our committee to wire Shirley for a definite corroboration of the claims made by our opponents. That corroboration was not forthcoming, and it is characteristic of other claims put forth by them, particularly the one with reference to the use of convict labor on Arlington County roads. In that case Shirley declined to answer the direct question whether convict labor would be so used, but replied that he did not contemplate the establishment of a convict camp in Arlington County."

That policy, said Mr. Hull, would not, of course, prevent the working of convicts on Arlington County roads from a camp established in Fairfax County.

Activities of the special committee in the campaign were reported by Mr. Hull at the meeting of the federation last night at Lyon Park Community House. Mr. Hull, in his report, predicted that the federation will win and when the votes are counted next Tuesday it will be found that Arlington County has withdrawn from the Byrd road plan.

The Arlington County Business and Professional Woman's Club was admitted to membership. Its delegates are: Mrs. Millicent Willis, Mrs. Pearle W. Sharpe, Mrs. Jessie W. Hunt and Mrs. Teresa Clark; alternates: Mrs. Helen Collins, Miss Ann Hedrick, Mrs. Edna Butterfield and Mrs. Ethel M. Gregory.

E. E. Naylor, chairman of the public utilities committee, reported much progress in an effort to bring about a reduction in the gas rates for Arlington County.

Robert Brown, colored, arrested Monday in connection with the stabbing of Alexander Green, colored, on the Washington Airport dump and charged with murder, was held for the grand jury at the October term of the circuit court of Arlington County by County Judge B. M. Hedrick yesterday.

According to police, Brown has admitted the stabbing, claiming he was attacked first by Green, who approached him with a piece of iron pipe. Brown was arrested by Sergt. E. J. McDermott, of the State police.

The Arlington County Kiwanis Club will hold its luncheon meeting today at Windsor Arms at 12:30 p. m. President Amos C. Crounse asks that all members attend, as matters of interest to all club members will be considered.

Clothes Urgently Needed By 150 School Children

Approximately 150 Montgomery County children will be unable to attend school when it opens unless they are provided with clothing by the home welfare committee of the County Social Service League, the committee said yesterday in opening a drive for garments.

Mothers are requested to check over the wardrobes of their children and send outgrown articles to the league, as the present stocks are not adequate to care for present requests. Further applications are expected as the opening of the school term draws near. The league has also decided to furnish wool to women who will knit sweaters and other garments for needy children.

Truck Driver Fined $50 After Fatal Accident

Sidney A. Marian, of Arlington, Va., yesterday was fined $50 and costs in Fairfax County Trial Justice Court, for reckless driving of a truck. Marian was the driver of a truck which was in collision with an automobile driven by Thomas Arrington, colored, on Telegraph road near Cameron Run on June 27. Nelson Kincheloe, 28, of Dumphries, a passenger in the Arrington car, was killed.

Marian was arrested by Capt. Heywood J. Durrer of the Fairfax County police and held on a charge of manslaughter. The truck after hitting the Arrington car crashed through the guard rail on a bridge and ran some distance before it overturned in the creek. An appeal to the Fairfax County Circuit Court was noted.

Hospital Supper Nets $1,725.

The annual supper given last week for the Montgomery County General Hospital netted about $1,725, according to Mrs. Charles C. Tumbleson, the treasurer. Supper tickets netted $699, while cakes sold for $143, and donations brought in $286. The dance accounted for profits of $117, and the fancy table for $125.

Maryland Militia Unit Gets First-Hand Experience in Antimob Drill.

(By Staff Correspondent.)

Camp Albert C. Ritchie, Cascade, Md., Aug. 2.—Tears streamed from the eyes of the members of the Third Battalion of the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, today as it received first-hand information on the effects of tear gas in subduing mobs. Part of the lecture was personal experience of the effects, and the troops are opposed to tear gas now. At least when there are no gas masks handy.

The battalion still was weeping copiously tonight when it staged a battalion parade reviewed by Maj. Stephen V. Fuller, battalion commander. The first battalion tomorrow will go through the same experience.

Advance Guard Maneuver.

The second battalion, commanded by Maj. Elmer F. Munshower, today took part in an advance guard movement maneuver near the camp. The battalion acting as advance guard for a theoretical enemy, marked by smoke pots, encountered machine gun and rifle fire and drove the enemy back so that the main regiment could advance. The battalion was supported by a platoon of the howitzer company of Kingston, commanded by First Sergt. William S. Shoemaker. The ambulance unit commanded by Capt. Joseph Franklin accompanied the troops, but had no casualties to bring back.

The howitzer company, under the direction of Lieuts. Michael Pugh and David Parsons, today fired for gunnery tests. It requires three hours to qualify one gunner and the tests will be continued tomorrow.

High Marksmanship.

The regiment already has exceeded the marksmanship percentage that was set for each company by Col. D. John Markey, commanding the regiment. It is expected that when range firing is completed Thursday the regiment will have set a new record for marksmanship qualifications.

Col. Markey yesterday formed the Junior First from the sons of soldiers who have accompanied the regiment as mascots. The Junior Regiment has been given charge of keeping the area around the canteen clear of empty pop bottles and debris from the parade ground. The youngsters cleared up the area in record time and then went for a swim before lunch.

Better Policing Ordered In BradburyHeights,Md.

Following complaints from residents of Bradbury Heights, Md., that county policemen seldom patrolled in their neighborhood, the Prince Georges county commissioners yesterday ordered Chief of Police J. J. Crowley to have a man keep an eye on the community. Albert Talbert, of Bradbury Heights, appeared before the board yesterday on behalf of the citizens.

The commissioners also authorized construction of a $150 bridge on the Mayhew road. Nicholas Orem, superintendent of schools, asked the board to fix the roof of the school board's office.

Dance Hall Permit Hearing to Be Held

Fairfax County Board Will Try to Draft Ordinance Judge Approves.

The Fairfax County (Va.) Board of Supervisors will conduct a public hearing this morning at the courthouse on the question of adopting an ordinance regulating, controlling and providing for the licensing of public dance halls in the county.

An ordinance for the same purpose was adopted at the June meeting of the board, but it failed to get the approval of Circuit Court Judge Walter T. McCarthy. The board will try to draft an ordinance today which he will approve.

The application of Vernon M. Lynch for a permit to establish a commercial hog farm in Falls Church magisterial district, south of the Little River turnpike will also be heard. This is the first such application since the adoption of the county ordinance regulating hog farms.

Bridge Loads to Be Posted.

All bridges on Montgomery County roads will be inspected and signs will be posted stating the maximum load they will bear with safety, the board of county commissioners ordered yesterday. The commissioners also ordered the Emory Church-Fraley road closed indefinitely for repairs, and announced that work on the Brighton-Sunshine road had been finished and the road was now open for traffic.

Arlington Leaders See G.O.P. Victory

Speakers Address League of Women and Plan Eleven New Clubs.

County Republican leaders, speaking at the meeting of the League of Republican Women of Arlington County last night, expressed themselves as confident that the county will be found again in the Republican column when the votes are counted at the presidential election in November.

Among the speakers were J. E. Spaulding, chairman of the Arlington County Republican committee; Dr. Victor Meyers, president of the County Republican Club; L. C. MacPherson, former county chairman; Grayson Ahalt, chairman of the entertainment committee for the Eighth Congressional District convention, to be held in the Washington-Lee High School auditorium August 22, and Mrs. Francis A. Harris, president of the league.

Tentative plans were made for the organization of clubs in each of the eleven voting precincts in the county.

2 Men and Liquor Loads Taken in Prince Georges

Two men were arrested yesterday as Prince Georges County police seized two loads of alleged whisky on the Baltimore boulevard near Hyattsville. The prisoners are John B. Brown, of Washington, who was arrested by Policeman Ralph Brown with five cases, and Joseph F. Nesline, who said he lived at 1409 North Capitol street, arrested by Constable Howard Slater, with eight.

Brown is charged with transportation, possession and failing to keep to the right, while Nesline is accused of transportation, possession, no registration card, dead tags and speeding.

Prince Georges Traffic Suits Total $22,500

Three suits, asking a total of $22,500 for injuries suffered in auto accidents, have been filed in Prince Georges County Circuit Court. Mrs. Minnie G. Pruitt, wife of Councilman Norman Pruitt, of Mount Rainier, asks $10,000 from William Bickerdyke, also of Mount Rainier. Bickerdyke is said to have been the driver of a cab which overturned several times on the Baltimore boulevard near Laurel, injuring Mrs. Pruitt.

As the result of an auto accident in Laurel on May 11, Earl Talley filed suit for $10,000 against Snowden J. Athey. Talley says he was seriously and permanently injured in the collision. Edmund R. Brillon, said to have been the driver of Talley's machine at the time of the crash, also filed suit against Athey, asking damages of $2,500.

Boy Fugitive Longs For Reformatory

Gives Up at Police Station After Fleeing Woman Who Hired Him.

A 15-year-old colored boy walked into the Eighth Precinct station last night and said he wanted to surrender; that he belonged in the House of Reformation near Marlboro, and was homesick and wanted to go back.

According to the story of Fitzhugh Biscoe, of Baltimore, he was sentenced for a year and a day for participating in several holdups near the Mount Royal station, in Baltimore. A week ago he was hired out to a Mrs. McCeney, in Marlboro, and yesterday became lonesome for the reformatory, so when Mrs. McCeney wasn't looking he slipped away and got a truck ride in the direction of what he thought was the reformatory.

The truck came to Washington. The boy became lost and inquired his way to the precinct station. Maryland authorities were notified.

BARGAINS AVAILABLE AT WOODLAND BEACH

Good Times Ahead for Those Who Purchase Lots at Summer Resort.

It is real news that excellent summer home sites are available at Woodland Beach, the development on South River in Maryland, which is rapidly becoming the best-known resort community in this section of the country.

And it is also news that lots for such summer homes may be purchased on such reasonable terms that no family pocketbook need be strained in meeting payments.

Further, it is news that Woodland Beach is offering a real bargain which ought not be overlooked by any family in the Capital which has ever considered building such a place in which to spend overnight vacations, week-ends and regular leisure periods.

A down payment of $9 and monthly installments of $3.50 will enable any one to purchase a lot at Woodland Beach. Hundreds are responding to this opportunity. Prosperity has peeped around that corner and is here for those who are taking advantage of buying at the Beach.

Now is the time to act while splendid home sites are still available in this garden spot which offers boating, bathing, fishing and all the comforts which vacationists desire. Remember, too, that Woodland Beach is just a short distance away and is reached over excellent roads.

Be prepared for the good times which are coming by having a place in which to enjoy yourself during many summers in the future.

Hearings Will Be Today On Teahouse Case Writ

Hearings will be held tomorrow in Baltimore on petitions for writs of habeas corpus filed for John Wallace and James Zalenski, who are being held in the Marlboro Jail on murder charges arising out of the fatal shooting in a Bladensburg, Md., tea house last fall.

The petitions were filed in City Court in Baltimore by attorneys for the two men, both of whom live in Baltimore. The writs are directed to Sheriff W. C. Hopkins, of Prince Georges County, and allege that the pair are being held illegally. When the two men were held on the murder charges, their lawyer said that he would file a habeas corpus plea in an effort to obtain their release on bond.

REVERSAL OF M'CARL PAY RULING IS ASKED

Civil Service Wants Order on Five-Day-Week Reduction Changed.

Comptroller General McCarl will take under review today a formal request for reconsideration of his ruling ordering a steeper pay cut for Federal employes working on a five-day-week basis.

President Thomas E. Campbell, of the Civil Service Commission, advocate of the five-day week in Government, drafted the request yesterday and will submit it this morning to McCarl. Representatives of the commission and the Comptroller General's office were in conference yesterday.

McCarl ruled that workers in five-day-week establishments must lose one-eleventh instead of one-twelfth of their pay. He held that the 24-day "legislative" furlough made mandatory under the economy act must be used up before any "administrative" payless leave is granted.

Several Points Questioned.

This would mean the loss of a full day's pay for Saturdays off under the five-day-week plan, after the "legislative" leave is exhausted.

In his request for a review, President Campbell questions several points in the decision, notably the one-eleventh pay reduction, and the decision that "legislative" leave must be used up before "administrative" furloughs may be allowed.

Besides the Labor Department, the Civil Service Commission, the Employes' Compensation Commission and the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, units now on a five-day week, other Federal establishments were hit by other provisions of the same McCarl ruling, it was disclosed yesterday.

Farm Board Affected.

The Federal Farm Board, which has placed 120 employes on "indefinite" furloughs, is vitally affected. Under the Comproller General's decision, the board, and other establishments, must turn back one month's pay to the Treasury for every employe furloughed for the 1933 fiscal year.

Gov. Campbell yesterday was confident as to the outcome of his negotiations with the Comptroller's office.

"I have always found Mr. McCarl more than fair in all of my dealings with him," he said. "I am sure this situation can be worked out."

In another ruling yesterday, the Comptroller General informed Senator Stewer (Republican), Oregon, that employes of special congressional committees must take an 8.3 per cent pay cut along with other Federal employes.

Fire and Police Parade Judges Group to Meet

The only meeting of the judges' committee for the firemen and policemen's parade, the feature Labor Day attraction here, has been called for tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Washington Board of Trade rooms, Star Building. The entire schedule of the judges' participation in the celebration will be outlined at this time.

The firemen and policemen's parade, sponsored by the Greater National Capital committee, is expected to attract thousands of firemen and policemen from all sections of the United States. Elaborate arrangements are being made to make the parade the largest held in the Capital during the year.

Held as the slayer of Dr. Victor A. Aimone, superintendent of the Mount Alto Hospital, July 13, Frank Cassel, a war veteran and once a patient at the hospital, yesterday was indicted for first-degree murder by the District grand jury.

Cassell went to the hospital to see another doctor and he allegedly shot Dr. Aimone when the man he wished to see failed to appear.

Despondent Man Kills Self by Gas

Wife, Government Worker, Returns and Finds Mate in Kitchen.

Despondency over unemployment was said by police to have caused Thomas R. Jackson, 26, of 1114 F street northeast, to take his life yesterday afternoon by inhaling gas in the kitchen of his home.

Mrs. Margaret Jackson, a Government employe, found her husband unconscious on the floor when she returned from work. All four burners of the gas stove were turned on and the room was tightly closed. The Fire Rescue Squad worked unsuccessfully over the man for more than an hour.

Jackson, who was a native of Washington, was employed part time at a downtown clothing store. Besides his wife, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jackson, of 11 R street northeast. A certificate of suicide was issued by Acting Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald.

The Washington Rapid Transit Co. is utilizing the off-street terminal adjacent to the Annapolis Hotel for its Baltimore line and has complied with the order of the Public Utilities Commission governing interstate bus operation, E. D. Merrill, president, announced yesterday. The Post on Sunday erroneously stated that the bus line had not complied with the order.

Rescue Squad Baiter Again Faking Calls

"Johnson" is back again after a year's rest.

For a period of two years the fire rescue squad was sent scurrying to all corners of the city on fake telephone calls of gas cases and explosions.

They could not refuse to send out the ambulance even though they knew the calls were fake.

Last night a report of a gas case at 1228 Duncan street northeast was received by the fire board. The operator recognized the voice immediately. There was nothing to do but send the rescue squad out.

Policemen and firemen twice got a good description of the man. He is a tall Negro and both times he is known to have been seen, he was carrying a brief case.

TRENDS OF SPANISH LITERATURE TRACED

Prof. Jones Lectures Before G. W. U. Conference on Hispanic Affairs.

Contemporary Spanish literature is in a period of transition, Prof. Cecil Knight Jones, of George Washington University, said yesterday in lecturing before the University's Conference on Hispanic American Affairs.

Prof. Jones, who is regarded by Hispanic American scholars as the outstanding bibliographer in their field, traced the main currents of the literary history of the Spanish American countries in his lecture.

Two motives have influenced the writers of Spanish America, he said. They are the direct imitation of European models and the effort to create an original literature as an expression of national life.

Apparently a "topsy-turvy" art, there are constructive notes to be found, the lecturer said. There are promises of future accomplishment, he said, discussing literary production which he said showed a "racial idealism."

Today, Senor E. Gil Borges, assistant director of the Pan-American Union, will discuss the relations between various Spanish American countries.

WHITE SLAVERY LAID TO TWO AFTER DRIVE

Vagrancy Charges Dropped, Pair Accused in Court by Justice Agents.

White slavery charges were placed against two men in Police Court yesterday by Department of Justice agents when vagrancy charges against them were dropped by the court.

The two, Edward Workman, 28, of Columbia, S. C., and Frank J. Pandolfi, 28, of Philadelphia, were arrested in a drive by Federal agents and local police last week in an attempt to break up a white slave ring supposed to have been started here by Philadelphia gangsters. Two other men and five women also were arrested at the time of the drive. The women were later released.

Workman and Pandolfi and Peter Abbott and Oscar Albert Miller, both of Philadelphia, were charged with vagrancy after being held for several days while police investigated their activities here. The vagrancy charges against Abbott and Miller were dropped on provision they leave town immediately.

Abbott was charged with murder in connection with the gun battle in a road house on Bladensburg road last fall in which one man was killed and five other persons injured. The charge against him was nolle prossed several days before he was scheduled to be tried.

INJURED CAB DRIVER IS BACK IN HOSPITAL

Found Unconscious in Bed After Being Released From Emergency.

Victor Smith, 22-year-old cab driver, of 1231 H street northeast, was in a serious condition last night suffering a relapse from injuries received in a triple auto crash July 2.

After first-aid treatment by a private physician, Smith was removed to Emergency Hospital, where he remained until July 26. Then he was allowed to go home. His mother found him unconscious in bed at 7:30 o'clock Monday night.

He was taken to Casualty Hospital, where his condition was pronounced as serious last night. At that hospital it was said he was suffering from a head injury and being treated by an outside physician.

Smith's taxicab was in collision with an automobile operated by William D. Jarvis, colored, of 1332 T street northwest, and the impact caused the cab to collide with a third machine operated by R. S. Hayden, of 2650 Wisconsin avenue northwest, according to police reports.

Smith drove to the apartment of his employer, Herbert Carr, of 2121 H street northwest, who had him treated by a private physician in the building. Smith lost consciousness there and was taken to Emergency.

Nicholas Long Indicted In Killing of Policeman

A charge of first degree murder was placed against Nicholas A. Long, a carpenter, yesterday when the District grand jury indicted him for the murder of Policeman Elmer Swanson on July 5.

Long engaged in a pistol battle with a squad of police who attempted to arrest him in his home at 506 First street southeast. Tear gas bombs drove him from his home after he had shot Swanson. An investigation of Long's mentality is being made by the District alienist.

Girl Sent to Hospital Suffering From Poison

Despondency was said by police to have caused Miss Elizabeth Wilkerson, 21, of 510 D street southeast, to attempt suicide yesterday by drinking poison.

She was found lying on the floor at her rooming house by Thomas Adler, who also lives at that address, and was removed to Casualty Hospital, where her condition is undetermined. She left two farewell notes, police said.

Right-of-Way Row Results in Beating

Victim Says Men Robbed and Attacked Him After Crash.

An argument over the right of way led to Robert Stewart, colored, 32, of 400 O street northwest, being robbed, beaten and his automobile damaged in a collision with a street car early yesterday.

According to Stewart, he was driving out Florida avenue and near First street northwest, became engaged in an argument with three colored men over the right of way. When they became threatening, he attempted to get way from them and crashed into a street car, injuring himself.

The men, he said, offered to take him to Freedmen's Hospital, but instead, drove him to Fourth and T streets, where they robbed him of $2.70 and then threw him out of the car. When they observed Stewart trying to get their license number, the three jumped out and beat him. He walked to Freedmen's Hospital, where he was treated for injuries to the ribs and numerous bruises.

Indictments Found In Narcotics Case

Three Accused of Entering Homeopathic Hospital and Taking Tablets.

Eight indictments involving members of an alleged narcotic ring were returned by the District grand jury yesterday.

Patrick J. Kittrick, Robert E. Gales and William W. Kimball were charged with housebreaking and larceny. They allegedly broke into the narcotic room of the Homeopathic Hospital June 15, and stole several thousand narcotic tablets. Kittrick is accused with Alice H. F. Healy in another indictment charging violations of the Harrison narcotic act, and Samuel Kilian, Gales, James J. Mulligan, Reuben Rose, Jeff Histon and William Grogan were indicted for violating the narcotics law.

Grogan is also charged with forging a number of doctors' prescriptions for narcotics.

2 of 4 Daughters Located by Woman

Others Still Being Sought by Wife of American Museum Official.

Two of the four daughters she has been seeking for weeks are in San Francisco, Mrs. George Gaylord Simpson, estranged wife of the associate curator of vertebrate palentology at the American Museum of National History, New York, said she learned yesterday from police authorities who have been aiding her in her search. They are the youngest of the four—Joan, 4, and Betty, 3.

The whereabouts of Helene, 8, and Gay, 6, are still unknown to her and she will continue her efforts to locate them, she said.

Mrs. Simpson said she was told the two children were taken by their mother-in-law to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Margaret McLaurin, in San Francisco.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

THE prospect of a world-beating vaudeville season seems to be waning as September 1 approaches. Last year Radio-Keith-Orpheum maintained something like 70 weeks of playing time for the two, four and six a day artists. In the extensive ballyhoo sustained during the early summer from 40 to 50 weeks of playing time have been dangled before the eager eyes of the performers. Now, according to the last issue of Sime Silverman's Variety, the new season itinerary will be strictly limited to 25 weeks. As Harry Richman would say, with the falling inflection, "Oh-h-h dear!"

Will Rogers, whose Beverly Hills, Calif., view of the Bonus Expeditionary Fracas in Washington last Thursday was just a little cock-eyed, has been signed by Fox for three more pictures to follow "State Fair," at $100,000 per pic to the philosophical poloist.

Speaking of the West Coast, Loew's Fox is boasting a news scoop in having placed the first pictures of the opening of the tenth Olympiad in Los Angeles on the screen yesterday, the shots consisting of the ceremonies participated in by Vice President Curtis and the Parade of the Nations.

And that reminds me. Dave Idzal, managing director of the Fox Theater in this city for two terms, has been transferred from the Fox house in Philadelphia to the same company's de luxe establishment in Detroit, where it is not unlikely he will install Jack Hurford, also formerly of the local cathedral, as his chief assistant.

The first meeting of the Washington Warner Club, a social organization composed of employes of the Warner Theaters in the territory under the jurisdiction of John J. Payette, was held in the Swanee Ballroom in the Earle Theater building last Saturday night, and was a pleasant time had by all!

Some otherwise unoccupied statistician has computed that there are 6,500 theaters now dark in the United States and that the consequent loss to the distributors of film entertainment amounts to $1,300,000 per week. Furthermore, it is estimated that only 20 per cent of the patronage of any given theater that is closed drifts to its competitors remaining open. The other 80 per cent is unaccounted for and has to be won back again to its former amusement habits by extensive and expensive advertising, publicity and promotion campaigns. Heigh-ho, what's the world coming to, if anything?

The current stage bill at the Palace Theater in New York, consisting of Kate Smith and her "Swanee Music Revue," bears all the earmarks of a field day for the radio stars under the personal direction of Ted Collins, including, as it does, Nate Brusiloff and his orchestra and Cliff "Ukulele Ike" Edwards.

The "Swanee Music Revue," incidentally, is reputed to be booked into the Palace at $8,000 for the week, of which Kate gets $5,000, or better. Yoo-hoo! Remember me, Kate, the guy with the blue serge suit and the gray fedora?

Paramount, by the way, is reported by Variety to be quietly looking about for a screen story with a radio background for Kate's stellar use.

Beginning Friday, Maxine Doyle, the Earle's mellifluous mistress of ceremonies going on I don't know how long, will absent herself from her accustomed duties to enjoy a week's vacation. Her guest for that period will be Joan Gale, of the Gale Quadruplets, disrupted by Joan's movie contract, who has been advised that production of her first Fox picture has been deferred a month.

It seems too bad to break up the Quadruplets' ebullient and enlivening act. They were, of course, the Gales of laughter you've heard so much about!

Girl, 6, Struck by Auto; Treated at Hospital

While running across the street in front of her home at 313 Fourteenth street northeast, Doris Somers, 8 years old, ran into the side of a moving automobile yesterday afternoon.

She was treated at Providence Hospital for a fractured left leg. According to police, the car was driven by Harvey T. Leapley, of 1276 Morse street northeast.

Policeman Is Treated For Injured Left Foot

Private F. T. Winfield, 37, of Clarendon, Va., attached to the Third Precinct, was treated at the police clinic yesterday for an injured left foot, suffered several days ago when he was swimming at Widewater, Va.

Winfield stepped on a nail and a splinter, which ran into the instep of his foot. He was ordered off duty.

Personal Tax Returns Exceed Previous Year

The number of personal tax returns filed by Washingtonians last month will exceed the number filed during the last fiscal year, Deputy Assessor Charles A. Russell predicted yesterday, while checking up on the hundreds of returns which flooded the tax office yesterday. The average tax, however, will be considerably lower than last year.

Mr. Russell said it would require several days to compile figures on the total number of returns made and the amount of taxes anticipated. An extra day was given Monday, because the last day of the month fell on Sunday.

HILLTOP'S FACULTY CHANGES PUBLISHED

Father Hart Raised to Dean of Arts and Sciences and Graduate School.

Only one administrative change in the faculty of Georgetown University will occur this year, it was announced yesterday, the Rev. Vincent J. Hart, S. J., having been elevated to dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate School. He succeeds the Rev. J. J. McLaughlin, who, with several other members of the college faculty, is being transferred to Woodstock College, Woodstick, Md.

Father Hart, one of the youngest administrators ever appointed at the college, has been dean of freshmen during the past year. It was said that Father McLaughlin will teach ethics at his new post. He also has been only one year at Georgetown.

A former director of the seismological observatory at the Hilltop, the Rev. Frederick W. Sohon, S. J., is returning to succeed the Rev. J. S. O'Connor in that capacity. For the last two years Father Sohon, one of the best known seismologists of the country, has been engaged in special studies at St. Andrew-on-the-Hudson. Father O'Connor has been transferred to Woodstock as professor of physics and mathematics.

Other New Instructors.

Among other new appointments to the college faculty are the Rev. J. C. Murray, of Woodstock, who is to teach philosophy in place of the Rev. Joseph T. O'Brien, transferred to St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia. Georgetown and Canisius College, Buffalo, N. Y., it was announced, have exchanged faculty directors of athletics, the Rev. Timothy J. Dineen, of the Hilltop, being succeeded by the Rev. J. J. Kehoe, of the Buffalo school. Father Kehoe also will be prefect of discipline at the college, relieving the Rev. Vincent S. McDonough, the incumbent for the last sixteen years, who has been named to fill a more important post, that of student counselor. Father McDonough is one of the oldest members of the college faculty in length of service.

Two Have Already Reported.

Two of the other new faculty members have aldeady reported, the Rev. George F. Strohaver, S. J., head of the chemistry department, and Prof. G. J. Miller, S. J., an assistant in the observatory. The latter is now with the Georgetown expedition sent to Maine to study the sun's eclipse.

Two new teachers of Latin and Greek, the Rev. G. S. Dolan and Prof. G. A. Yantelli, also have been named. The former is from St. Peter's College High School at Jersey City, N. J., where he was prefect of studies. The latter is from Woodstock.

Two other Georgetown professors who have been transferred to Woodstock are Prof. J. J. Bluett, formerly faculty director of the Hoya, university publication, and Prof. J. J. Moloy. They will spend the next three days at the house of studies, after which it is expected they will be ordained.
